

GOVERNOR OPENS HOOVER CAMPAIGN OUTSIDE STATE

Republican Candidate Is Man Who Makes Good,
Says Zimmerman

St. Louis, Mo., (P)—Herbert Hoover is the kind of a man who always makes good, said Governor Fred R. Zimmerman of Wisconsin in a Republican campaign speech here Thursday night.

The Wisconsin executive in his initial campaign speech outside of his own state, said Hoover and Charles Curtis, "because of their long years of training and experience in the public service constitute the strongest presidential team that has been nominated by the Republicans within a generation."

His speech was largely of endorsement of Hoover, although he touched on many of the national issues. He closed his speech with quotations from "two of the greatest Democratic newspapers of the United States, the New York Times and the New York World," both published in 1921 and both endorsing Hoover's administrative and diplomatic ability and approving his labors.

Giving the St. Lawrence current, in which his state is vitally interested, and the Mississippi barge line development, in which Missouri and other states along the course are interested, equal spaces in his address, the governor of the Badger commonwealth endorsed Mr. Hoover's stand on each of them, warned his auditors away from alleged infidelity on the part of Gov. Smith for the St. Lawrence waterway and suggested that Hoover, being an engineer, would be the logical one to push these engineering developments.

Turning to "corruption" he said he was "unwilling that Mr. Hoover shall be held responsible for the acts of some miserable individual who dishonored his party and betrayed his country. The scandal and the corruption during the last Democratic administration will never be forgotten," however, Gov. Zimmerman continued, mentioning some of the so-called black spots on the Democratic banner.

The Wisconsin governor poked fun at the Democratic stand on agriculture, pointing to recent cartoons that have shown "Tammany farmers" clad in neatly pressed overalls, with dinner sticks pinned to their backs, and talking of farm subjects in an ignorant manner. Then Mr. Zimmerman quoted from Hoover's acceptance speech a pledge to solve the farm relief problem and said "did Hoover ever attempt to solve any problem that confronted him that he did not accomplish satisfactorily?"

"Enumeration of Gov. Smith's lack of farm votes in his own state was part of the Zimmerman talk. The governor advocated the same immigration policy as outlined by Hoover, then attacked candidate Smith for "taking a direct slap at the south," in his statement after the Democratic national convention, on prohibition.

FORMER PROGRESSIVE WILL SUPPORT KOHLER

Durand—Att. Charles Adair Ingram, for many years a LaFollette Progressive, in a letter to Walter J. Kohler, Republican candidate for governor, Friday gave "the assurance of my unqualified support."

"I am a LaFollette Progressive and have been for a good many years," Mr. Ingram wrote, "and as a Progressive I am supporting you for governor with the faith that if you are elected you will be a governor for all the people. That is true progressiveness."

"I am satisfied that from any reasonable analysis of the vote in the primary the conclusion must be reached that practically one-half of your vote came from the Progressive ranks."

"This to my mind means much. It indicates that in the face of the strongest political opposition you have won the support of a great mass of voters who at the outset and under natural line ups were dead against you."

SET DATE FOR TRIAL OF KAUKAUNA YOUTHS

The date for the trial of Henry Hunter and Raymond Fletcher, Kaukauna boys, charged with libel and conspiracy in connection with the receipt of a number of threatening letters received several months ago by a Kaukauna girl, has been set for Nov. 9, by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court. Stanley A. Stalld, assistant district attorney, has been conducting an investigation into the case and will be the prosecutor. The two boys are free on $200 bonds.

GENERAL WEATHER

The pressure remains low over the lake region and northwest, with rain during the past 24 hours over the upper Mississippi valley and lake region, New England state and northward into Canada. The pressure is rising and the weather clearing over the Great plains, and as this condition advances eastward clearing and cool weather may be expected in this section tonight and Saturday. The pressure is falling again over the far northwest, however, which may bring rising temperature and increasing cloudiness to this section again sometime during the weekend.

BAY STATE SEEMS TO BE FOR GOVERNOR AL

will be even though Boston cast its overwhelming vote for Smith.

MIDDLE CLASS FOR AL
The big question is how overwhelming will Boston be? The large middle class of voters are for Smith. The natives—the old Yankee vote—are for Hoover. The foreign-born, notably the Italians and the Irish, are for Smith and there is a goodly percentage of the other racial groups which are distinctly friendly to Smith. Yet all is not one-sided in any group. Take for instance Harvard University, where forty professors have declared for Smith notwithstanding his Bowery dialect.

The balance of power in these groups of foreign extraction may be held by the French Catholics, many of whom are believed to be friendly to Hoover because of the clash inside the church against the Irish Catholic hierarchy. This cleavage overflows somewhat the borders of Rhode Island, where the French Catholics have led to a factional feud. Most of the foreign groups reside in the cities. These cities outside of Boston, of which New Bedford, Lowell, Fall River and Lawrence are typical, are naturally Republican. Nearly every one of them may go Democratic this year. If they go by a heavy vote, Smith will have Massachusetts without doubt. The textile mills have not had their share of prosperity and there is the usual discontent there which votes against the party in power. This factor may be largely responsible for the Republican defections in the mill cities.

PROHIBITION SECURED

Since the early stages of the campaign the prohibition issue has been more or less made secondary. Many Republicans who at the outset loudly proclaimed their sympathy with the Smith view on prohibition are swinging back into the party line. Also the nativistic vote is being aroused, particularly the women. And it is an old saying that if the commonwealth of Massachusetts is really aroused in an election, it goes Republican. Numerically, however, the natives are a minority. And the Democrats have been spending their money registering the immigrant vote—something they never have been able to do before.

So there is much to worry the managers on both sides. As one well-informed editor expressed it—and he is no partisan: "Every time I sit down and work it out on paper, taking past votes and the registration, I conclude Smith will carry the state but my hunch is just the opposite—I think Hoover will win." Amid such conflicting statements and varying opinions, the observer finds little that is tangible and the only conservative statement that can be made is that Massachusetts is truly doubtful.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
A marriage license was issued Friday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, to Norbert Stammer, Appleton, and Lorraine Draeger, Kaukauna.

SURVEY TEETH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dental Association Starts
Work as Part of Kiwanis
Dental Clinic

The annual survey of the grade schools of the entire cities is being conducted this week by the members of the Appleton Dental Association, as a part of the Kiwanis dental clinic project. The purpose of the survey is to discover defective teeth which need attention and in cases where the child is not sent to his own dentist, so that he is taken care of by the dental clinic held each year. Dr. W. H. Meeker, chairman of the clinic, is in charge of the survey.

Printed slips will be sent to the parents through the children and Miss Mary Orblom, school nurse, urges that all parents cooperate in seeing that defective teeth are attended to, either at the clinic or by the family dentist. "So many times a neglected tooth causes serious trouble," said Miss Orblom, "and that is why we are urging pupils to have their teeth filled before the cavity gets large enough to cause other difficulties."

Political Briefs

(By the Associated Press)
Sheboygan — Picturing the elder LaFollette and Al Smith as "even farther apart in their principles than the poles" and charging the Democratic presidential nominee with "deliberately trying to deceive the voters on prohibition and every other problem of interest in this state," Congressman John C. Schaefer of Milwaukee Thursday night opened his Hoover speaking tour here.

Wausau — "The whole record of Governor Smith shows that he is at complete variance with Wisconsin opinion and interests upon all of the three subjects of vital interest to the state," Congressman Joseph L. Hooper of Michigan declared here Thursday night.

Milwaukee — "The most insincere factor that has been brought into this campaign is the effort of Al Smith to make the voters believe that in voting for him they will be voting for bringing back beer and wine," former Governor D. W. Davis of Idaho, asserted here Thursday night at a Milwaukee-club Republican rally.

Mrs. Elmer Krueger, Mrs. Joseph Lettler, and Mrs. Joseph Hoin spent Thursday at Oshkosh.

COOLIDGE PRAISES U. S. PROSPERITY

Introduction of labor-saving machinery," he added.

Mechanical power in the United States now "is equivalent to the work of 3,000,000,000 employees in our industries," the president said. In transportation, average freight rates have been halved to one cent per mile since 1880, passenger traffic has been trebled and freight traffic expanded six times in value, while 72,000 miles of improved roads built, he went on.

WAR SHOWED SOUNDNESS

The world war, Mr. Coolidge added, showed the soundness of America's financial structure when, against her role of debtor nation, she advanced large sums to foreign countries besides carrying on her own war activities with no internal economic disruption.

"These are some of the facts which indicate the progress and prosperity of the United States," Mr. Coolidge said. "While there are still some of our people who have not yet become participants to the extent of their merit in our material resources, and some lines which have fallen behind, we have striven to keep the door of opportunity open to all our inhabitants."

"Our charities are lavish and world-wide. Our missionary efforts reach in every direction. Our actions in behalf of limitation of naval armaments have been of great benefit to all mankind. Our influence in negotiating the recent treaty in Belgium of peace is well known. It raises the greatest barrier against war that was ever created by the art of man."

PRASE FOR SENATOR

"In his capacity as a ranking member of the committee on foreign relations, the state department had the constant counsel and cooperation of your eminent senator, Mr. Swanson, in these negotiations. Our progress and prosperity at home, our standing and influence abroad, could never have been secured unless they rested on a solid foundation of demonstrated integrity, high character, and abiding faith."

"Such are some of the outlines of the mansion in which dwell the people of the United States. It is a house not made with hands. Into it has gone the sacrifices and prayers of many generations. While it is by no means complete, it is already the most comfortable habitation which a nation ever enjoyed."

John Harrison will spend the weekend at Madison and Chicago.

From the information gathered on this trip the committee prepares a list of recommendations for road improvements to be presented at the annual meeting of the county board next month.

CITY CLAMPS LID
ON LICENSES FOR
SOFT DRINK SALESCouncil Rejects Application of Herbert Loehning for Permit

Neenah—This city will not grant any more licenses for selling non-toxicating liquors, the city council decided Thursday evening. The decision was reached by the committee on police and health and reported by the chairman following the application of Herbert Loehning, which was rejected. A case is now pending in the courts whereby a Neenah proprietor of a soft drink parlor has been found guilty of selling beer containing the unlawful amount of alcohol and it was with this case in view the committee made its decision.

The city is also to be eliminated from the telegraphic and telephonic and high tension wire noises which are affecting radio reception. William Quinn asked that an ordinance be passed regulating the inspection of such noise makers and that the city should take care of all existing wires on land and in the gutters. Work of cleaning the E. Forest-ave sewer was left with the street commissioner.

BIDS ARE ACCEPTED
Reports from the board of public works on bids for ornamental lighting system on N. Commercial-st. and for repairing the curb on Wisconsin-st. were presented. The bid of John Sorenson for $144 1/2 a foot for the curb work was accepted; the bid of the Union Metal company for $8,052.78 for posts and transformers, Schultz and Fuhr for $17,754.00 for installation and Electric Appliance company for $95.27 a thousand foot for the cable, were recommended.

An ordinance defining the duties of the city physician relative to city charges, was presented by the poor committee. The charges relative to operations, obstetrical cases and serious injuries were contained in a schedule and will be paid to other physicians the same as to the city physician according to direct from the poor committee. The ordinance was held over for physicians' signatures.

A letter from the Second Ward Security company, approving the sale of the $350,000 school bonds, was read. Credit was given the city clerk for his efficient manner in handling the sale of the bonds.

Alderman Herzig asked that protection be given against low sale restrictions. The Park Lumber plant which he recently added to the city. He was informed by the attorney that an ordinance was not needed for this protection because this was stated in the deed. The corner at Second and Lincoln-sts. which is dangerous in its present condition, is to be widened through generosity of the Theda Clark hospital where through its board of directors, has offered a strip of land for the purpose.

Among the petitions presented was one from S. Commercial-st. property owners objecting to the proposed 25 per cent discount to be granted to property owners in the block between Wisconsin-ave and Dela-ave where the new pavement was the third one placed in the last few years and on which the council thought would be asking too much to charge the full amount for the last paving work.

WILL TEST PUMP
A petition for a light on Washington-ave at the corner of First- and a petition for lights on E. Forest-ave between Grand View-ave and Ninth-st. were referred to the committee on streets. The quarterly report of the sealer of weights and measures showed that 37 visits were made, 302 tests were conducted and 32 cases of shortage in weight were found. Don Shepard petitioned to change his water supply at his home on E. Forest-ave to connect with the Menasha water supply as the water furnished by Neenah was injurious to a water softener installed at his home. The petition was left with the waterworks committee which was not in favor of the change as the Shepard property is several blocks from a Menasha water main.

It was decided to have a complete underwriter test made of the new 1,000 gallon fire pump which is due to arrive here soon, before it is accepted by the city. Bids received for parcels of city property were authorized rejected as they were too low for consideration. The sale of the properties was left with a committee composed of Aldermen Schmidt, Arnesen and Harder. As the people are divided on the plan to establish an auto light testing agent, more time was granted the committee to investigate. The street light at corner of S. Commercial-st. and Sherry-st. was authorized to be moved to the position on Sherry-st. as one of the posts of the ornamental system, when completed, will be at the corner.

Alderman Rasmussen, the council member of the planning commission, was authorized to attend the plan conference at Appleton. Bids for a new snow plow were held open for investigation. Bids totaling $5,545.04 were authorized paid.

With Paris radio stores broadcasting in the streets at night, only about half a dozen groups of street singers still follow their trade.

All arrangements have been completed for the program of events which will start shortly after 7 o'clock Friday evening at high school where a pep meeting will be held, followed by a "snake dance" through the business portion of the city. This will end with a bonfire at Columbia park. The Saturday program will start at 11 o'clock with a parade of floats and stunts.

Sluggish Bond Market
Delays Building Plans

New York—(AP)—While many of the established industries have made rapid progress in recent months in the face of unusually high money rates, sharp declines in building permits in August and September indicate that credit tension has tended to delay new projects.

The sluggish character of the bond market, induced by the high call and time money rates, has had a direct bearing in the delay of building projects through causing difficulty in financing. During the falling off in building permits in the past two months, time and call money rates advanced sharply.

Statistics compiled from 350 cities and towns by S. W. Straus and Co. reveal that permits showed an opposite tendency in August of 1927, with an increase of about $50,000,000. Call and time money rates dropped during that month in 1927 and bond prices improved substantially.

On permits taken out earlier, however, building activity has been at a high level in recent months.

SCHOOLS PLANNING MUSIC PROGRAM TO TRAIN STUDENTS

One to Four Music Periods
Every Month Will Be Devoted to Subject

In an effort to train children in the appreciation of good instrumental music, it has been decided to devote one to four of the music periods of the month to the study of instrumental music in the public schools. The decision was made Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of high school principals with Dr. Earl Baker, director of public school music.

Dr. Baker presented a program, pointing out how the student should be taught to appreciate musical instruments not because of the varnished mahogany of the string instrument nor the glitter of the silver plate of the woodwinds, but because of a real love for the tonal quality which he has learned to recognize. Dr. Baker presented a suggested method of procedure for instrumental study over a period of three years, with the first year devoted to a study of string, woodwind, brass and combination instruments and lyrics, overtures, preludes, program music, concertos, rhapsodies and symphonies.

YOUNGER PEOPLE KEPT HER YOUNG, WOMAN BELIEVES

Mrs. Harry C. Sloan of this city, who visited in Superior last week after an absence of 27 years, in an interview in the Superior Telegram said she found the city much changed since 1901 when she moved from there to Appleton. Mrs. Sloan's husband served as district attorney at Superior for two terms, and was prominent both in legal and real estate circles.

Mrs. Sloan who is over 70, is unusually active. She told the reporter, "I think I have remained young because I have always associated with young people. When I lived in Superior there weren't any old people here. I was older than any of my friends and I don't feel old yet." Mrs. Sloan went to Duluth from Superior, where she stayed at the Hotel Duluth, for the remainder of the week.

FREIGHT SHIPPERS WATCHING HEARING

Appleton freight shippers, although not represented are watching the outcome of a hearing before the interstate commerce commission in Chicago Wednesday. The hearing was to revise, if possible, freight rates between points in Wisconsin and southeastern states. A series of exhibits to show why rates should be changed were prepared by state traffic men at Madison last week. Roy G. Wort, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce, helped with the exhibits. If the new rates are accepted by the railroads, Appleton shippers will save about 20 per cent on their shipments to the southeast.

WRITES PAMPHLET ON FOREMANSHIP COURSES

A pamphlet entitled A Catechism On Foreman Training by Conference Method, which is to be sent to industrial plant executives who are contemplating a program of foreman training, has been prepared by Marlon W. Smith, formerly of Kansas, and now foremanship training teacher in the Fox river valley. Mr. Smith will conduct classes in the various cities in the valley and in several northwestern Wisconsin cities, including Wausau, Eau Claire, Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids and others. The pamphlet presents all the details of a training course, and answers most of the questions which a plant executive might answer before undertaking the project. H. G. Noyes, coordinator of the pulp and paper industry at the Appleton vocational school is arranging foremanship training classes for Mr. Smith.

SARGON IS POWERFUL INVIGORATING TONIC

New Scientific Formula Contains Ingredients Which Are Designed to Impart Tone and Strength to Entire System and Which Are Valuable for Their Influence Upon the Appetite and Digestion.

The instant and phenomenal success of Sargon is easily explained. Its effect is almost immediate. Right from the first dose people who are suffering from lowered vitality begin to feel its stimulating, tonic effects. Thousands of half-sick, rundown men and women who have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results report that it seems to pick them right up and put them on their feet.

It is not only a powerful reconstructive tonic designed to impart tone and strength to the entire system, but it is a constitutional treatment as well and exerts a tremendous influence upon the processes of assimilation and elimination. It also contains other ingredients of recognized therapeutic value which are valuable for their influence upon the appetite and digestion.

Sargon is fulfilling its great mission. It is doing it in a new and revolutionary way; the way that the men of science who labored for years to perfect this new and epoch-making formula intended it to be done. Sargon is accomplishing its results by helping Nature to correct the improper functioning of three all-important organs and fluids of the body it is designed to aid. One of the basic ingredients in Sargon is designed to stimulate the liver to normal activity because after years of medical research it has been proven conclusively that seven out of every ten people past the age of thirty, suffer from deficient bile flow caused by a sluggish liver. And unless the liver is performing its proper functions, the processes of digestion, assimilation and elimination become deranged, resulting in dyspepsia, gastro-intestinal disorders, auto-intoxication, constipation, hyperacidity and other distressing symptoms which are now so common in this modern age. Another basic ingredient in Sargon is designed to build up the richness and vigor of the blood stream by increasing the amount of hemoglobin which the red blood corpuscles contain and thus enable the blood to purify itself. Still another principal ingredient in Sargon is designed to stimulate the all-important secretions of the endocrine glands, which form a network throughout the body and which science has learned govern our very outlook on life, making us either ambitious and alert or dull and depressed. Sargon represents some of our latest knowledge in the field of medicine. The work done in originating it can scarcely be measured. It has involved the critical study not only of many medicines, but also the clinical and research work done with them by leading scientists in some of the greatest laboratories and medical centers of the world. Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Volgt's Drug Store. Copyright 1928 by G. F. Willis, Inc.

ATLANTA SCHOOL HEAD WILL SPEAK HERE NEXT MONDAY

Dr. Willis A. Sutton Will Discuss Health of School Children

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of public schools at Atlanta, Ga., who will give a public lecture here Monday evening at Lawrence chapel, has made a great reputation in the southeast and throughout the nation as a champion of education for the masses. He is speaking under auspices of the Appleton Dental association. Members of the women's club are distributing tickets for the lecture, which will begin at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Sutton will treat with the health of school children and its relation to their ability to learn. In his own city, Dr. Sutton was formulated a program of education which will care for children of various capacities, paying equal attention to the needs of the underprivileged as well as the over-privileged child.

As a result the Atlanta public school system under his supervision has developed a system of tests and measurements which has classified every child in the entire school system in a class room or in a section where there is very little difference in intellectual ability. It is doubted whether any school system in the country has so thoroughly cared for the individual needs of the individual child.

Atlanta is the first great city in the nation to see that every child of junior high school is given the privilege of junior high school training at the same time and in the junior high schools of that city the classes have been so arranged that no child is forced to compete with another child who is as far as five points removed in intellectual ability.

Dr. Sutton's slogan, upon entering upon the superintendency of the public schools of Atlanta seven years ago was, "All Atlanta in School." He has campaigned continuously for a strict enforcement of the compulsory school attendance law. The campaign has been one of moral suasion, an intelligent understanding by all people of the importance of education. The enrollment has increased in seven years from 30,000 to 63,000.

In looking after the needs of the children of all the people, it has been Dr. Sutton's slogan to see that adult education should receive the proper amount of attention. Atlanta has developed an opportunity school second only to the opportunity school in Denver and has sponsored a program of vocational education for adults in special classes all over the city and in the great evening school system. It will be the purpose of Dr. Sutton to give some idea of how the great masses of the people are to be brought under the influence of the great city school system.

BREAKING DOWN PARTISANSHIP

One of the most wholesome effects of the 1928 presidential campaign has been to break down narrow partisanship to a large degree. Probably in no previous national election has there been so much individual tearing away from strict party ties. There have been many elections in which there were bolts and the attempted formation of third parties, but these movements came from an entirely different cause. While we are a believer in the party system under our form of government, and do not see how it could operate successfully under any other, we think it produces excellent results to have from time to time a shaking up of the dominant parties. After all the line of demarcation between the Republican and Democrat parties is more or less one dividing conservatism from liberalism and it is a very faint line at that. Their specific policies have grown steadily more similar, and today with one or two minor differences they have declared in their platforms for approximately the same programs.

With the candidates, however, and what they individually advocate there are sharper differences, and these have caused countless defections from both parties. These manifestations of independent thinking are not only an indication of deep and widespread interest in the affairs of government, but they reflect a citizenship less susceptible to the wiles and intrigues of the politician. In this campaign both the Republican and Democrat parties are shaken to their foundations. Men of the highest standing in all branches of science, art, literature, business, industry and the professions have left their party temporarily because of their personal preference for Gov. Smith or Mr. Hoover. Many distinguished Republicans, such as college presidents and professors, railroad executives, labor leaders, agricultural experts, corporation executives, etc., have come out for Gov. Smith by either endorsing or actively working for him. Much of it is because of his so-called wet attitude, but they would not endorse him if they did not believe in his ability and integrity as well as his program. They regard him not only of presidential stature, but they think he would give the nation sounder and better leadership than his opponent. They admire his personal qualities, such as his courage, frankness, executive force and aggressiveness, and they see in his record as governor of New York a guarantee of his qualifications for the White house. They particularly like his assaults upon traditional politics and government and the promise of radical changes in administrative practices.

On the other hand, many prominent Democrats have broken with their party to support Hoover. They are actuated by convictions as thoroughly honest and important to them. These defections are by no means confined to dry Democrats. Many of them are for Hoover because they admire his extraordinary achievements as an engineer, his services in the World War which from a humanitarian and efficiency standpoint were probably exceeded by those of no single individual and will grow in greatness as they are better understood, the great things he has accomplished for American industry and business at home and abroad as secretary of commerce, his business genius, unselfish public service and an unblemished character. They particularly like him because he is not a politician. They argue that he will give the federal government the same competent direction that has characterized all his previous achievements. Some of the chief labor leaders have asserted that his labor program marks him as the greatest exponent of labor's aims in the nation today. Many noted Catholics are for Hoover; just as numerous Protestants of standing are for Smith. And so it goes.

The point is that these defections and adherences show that we have two unique figures nominated for the presidency; that both are high-minded men, no matter what their origins or training; that both are demonstrated successes in a public capacity; that each has his strong points and outstanding capacities, which, along with the policies he is advocating, appeal to the people in different ways. This is natural and beneficial. It helps to break down standardized prejudices, to broaden our sympathies and understanding, to see the other fellow's viewpoint, to grasp the fact that there are two sides to every controversy. It helps us to measure men by their real standards of worth, and not by artificial and superficial tests. All in all, we are going through one of the most stimulating, constructive presidential campaigns in our history. It is a regular housecleaning of mental cobwebs. When we emerge from it we will be better off spiritually and politically, be the results what they may.

THE GREEN BAY COUNCIL TO JUDGE GEIGER

It has remained for the common council of the city of Green Bay to make more real humor in connection with prohibition enforcement than perhaps any other municipality in the country. Because the American people can appreciate a joke, the resolution it adopted in protest of padlocking ought to gain publicity from coast to coast. It will be especially appreciated by the federal judge at Milwaukee who is to pass upon these cases and to whom the protest ostensibly is drawn.

If the council had wished to make it certain that padlocks would be ordered for the forty-eight or more business buildings slated for this distinction, it could not have done better than to pass the resolution it adopted. This resolution will remove all possibility of leniency or compassion. In its child-like simplicity it overlooks the fact entirely that there is a prohibition law and that it is a federal law. It frankly admits there are saloons in Green Bay, plenty of them, and designates them by that name. It pleads that because the prohibition law is "unpopular" the courts should permit Green Bay to have its saloons and to segregate them in the business district, "so situated that our police department knows where all of them are and, in that way has them under their supervision." Al Jolson never sprung a more original one than this.

But this is not all. The federal court is told that the closing of these buildings is going to hurt Green Bay. Here we have something really serious. It is going to mean a great loss to their "industrial manufacturers," whoever they may be, and to dealers in candies, cigars, pops and soda. This touching appeal ought to go to the heart of Judge Geiger if anything does, for certainly Green Bay must have its pop and soda, and as a man having regard for the home and society, he will appreciate what it would mean to have the sale of these vital necessities restricted. It is also going to hurt their planing mills and contractors, in fact it is going to almost ruin the city. Finally it is going to scatter blind pigs all over the city—bogus saloons usurping the privileges of legitimate saloons, we take it, and they are going to pollute the residence districts, "where it would be impossible for the police department to know of, or to have supervision over them."

The altogether extraordinary protest adopted by the city council of that city carries us back to the days of brewery supremacy. It smacks of the same enlightenment, the same kind of politics. The council is over-solicitous for the saloons. It has betrayed both it and them. Its admission that they exist, together with the plea that the court take mercy on them and permit them to operate under police supervision, ought to remove the necessity of a trial. Before sending the protest to Judge Geiger we would suggest that it be spread on parchment paper and illuminated in gold and colors. As a souvenir of prohibition, it ought to go into the archives of the government and be handed down to posterity.

Forty-five per cent of the pupils of the country ought to wear glasses, the U. S. Public Health Service asserts, and how many ought to wear stockings?

The so-called busy bee really is a loafer, says a scientist. Let it be mentioned as an extraordinary circumstance, however, that the bee produces slightly more money than the scientist.

It takes a ray of light 36,000 years to travel from Hercules to the earth. It ought to incorporate and charge a 10-cent fare.

If she doesn't we'll publish the three proposals addressed care of this column—and open the other letters waiting for her. We hope she'll call in person, for we have a hunch that the swains whose names appear on the letter might take a violent dislike to us if their letters appear in print. (The "we" is for protection.) Moreover, we have had broad hints that both of the major political parties stand prepared to pay hush money, or to engage her as a publicity director. So, please, Miss A. Flapper, come and call on us, and take away these letters. They're too heavy for us.

THE NEAR DOCTORS ARE THE DEAR DOCTORS
So far the dentists of the country have not responded with any marked degree of enthusiasm to my proposal that they voluntarily relinquish the use of the title of "doctor" in the interest of public welfare. A few of my former dentist friends have told me privately just what they think of my intolerable egotism, but nothing suitable for publication has come of it, so I begin to fear it is only another of my big ideas gone dud. Frankly, tho, I could admire the fine professional spirit of the dentists even more than I do, now, if they would only consent to leave the title of "doctor" to the exclusive use of legally qualified practicing physicians.

Furthermore, I would make it reprehensible for doctors of philosophy, science, divinity, law or other kind of honorary doctors to make use of the title if engaged in any pursuit or occupation that encroached upon or competed with the practice of the healing art, medicine, health, hygiene.

The title of "doctor" primarily and essentially connotes a healer and it would be a boon to public welfare if it were restricted to the use of real medical practitioners.

In urging this reform I am not denying or questioning the right of dentists, clergymen, professors or scientists to the title; if they have the doctorate degree they have the same legal claim to the title as any physician has. Only I ask all these nonmedical "doctors" whether they have a moral right to use the title when it connotes that the man who wears it is a physician?

Here are two professional letter-heads. One is that of, say, Dr. John Smith, chiropractor. The other is that of, say, Dr. Jim Jones, optometrist. I delay the moral claim to the title in both instances, altho I know both have some sanction of their use of the title in the statutes of the state. I hold that the state legislature puts over some downright ridiculous statutes, under the influence of skilled lobbyists and organized pressure. Aside from the moral or ethical aspect of the custom, the taste of the fellow who thus exploits the title of "doctor" is questionable. A real doctor might properly have his name engraved or printed George Brown M. D. but not Dr. George Brown. As a rule it is the near doctor, the shortest healer, the cultist, the faddist, the fellow who has no recognized degree, that elects to print his letterhead or professional card "Dr. Henry Hokusm." I would warn all readers against the near doctors who just "come by" the title and exploit it for what it may be worth to them. Even if the state considers these near doctors a good joke on the people, remember that in the long run the near doctors are the dearest one can employ.

Furthermore, I would make it reprehensible for doctors of philosophy, science, divinity, law or other kind of honorary doctors to make use of the title if engaged in any pursuit or occupation that encroached upon or competed with the practice of the healing art, medicine, health, hygiene.

The title of "doctor" primarily and essentially connotes a healer and it would be a boon to public welfare if it were restricted to the use of real medical practitioners.

In urging this reform I am not denying or questioning the right of dentists, clergymen, professors or scientists to the title; if they have the doctorate degree they have the same legal claim to the title as any physician has. Only I ask all these nonmedical "doctors" whether they have a moral right to use the title when it connotes that the man who wears it is a physician?

Here are two professional letter-heads. One is that of, say, Dr. John Smith, chiropractor. The other is that of, say, Dr. Jim Jones, optometrist. I delay the moral claim to the title in both instances, altho I know both have some sanction of their use of the title in the statutes of the state. I hold that the state legislature puts over some downright ridiculous statutes, under the influence of skilled lobbyists and organized pressure. Aside from the moral or ethical aspect of the custom, the taste of the fellow who thus exploits the title of "doctor" is questionable. A real doctor might properly have his name engraved or printed George Brown M. D. but not Dr. George Brown. As a rule it is the near doctor, the shortest healer, the cultist, the faddist, the fellow who has no recognized degree, that elects to print his letterhead or professional card "Dr. Henry Hokusm." I would warn all readers against the near doctors who just "come by" the title and exploit it for what it may be worth to them. Even if the state considers these near doctors a good joke on the people, remember that in the long run the near doctors are the dearest one can employ.

LOUIS BROMFIELD RINGS THE BELL
"The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg," the new book by Louis Bromfield, sounds like a detective story, but it is a Bromfield novel in the best manner of that youthful writer. Last year I was disappointed in "A Good Woman," after I had become enthusiastic over "Early Autumn." The new book, "The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg," is in many ways even better than "Early Autumn."

Louis Bromfield has made himself the champion of fertility as over against sterility. Like Anatole France, he seems to believe that there is a definite connection between physical fertility and genius. The people who are physically vital are creative. They are worth while, no matter how low their ratings by the standards of respectability.

That thought underlies "The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg." In this new book there is a whole gallery of very clear portraits of wild people contrasted with people who are merely sterile. The author is too good an artist to outdo his underlying idea upon the reader. He tells a story and he creates living characters. They have meaning for his thesis by being what they are and doing what they do.

It is one of the most remarkable galleries of characters in any recent novel I have read. There is no mistaking these people. They live. Louis Bromfield succeeded in putting the breath of life into them. In almost every case, they are so much alive that you fail to remember they are characters in fiction.

The same thing is true of the background. The story trails all over western America and England and Italy and the time period covered is from the middle of the nineteenth century to the present. But each place described is sharply etched. The reader gets the impression that Louis Bromfield was present when it all happened. This is a great triumph for any writer.

Miss Annie Spragg is the daughter of Cyrus Spragg, a "Prophet," who has started a new religious cult and has made his followers believe he will never die. His son Uriah is an ascetic where his father was oversexed. Uriah and Annie start out preaching, the former with Uriah's sins.

In his fanaticism Uriah Spragg crucifies Annie and years afterwards the marks of this crime give rise to the rumor in faraway Italy, where Annie has gone to live, that a miracle has happened. On her deathbed the marks on her hands and feet are discovered and the report spreads that there has been a miracle.

The story begins with Annie's death and then works backwards across a century and across the other side of the world. Much in the manner of Brownings, "The Ring and the Book," Bromfield proceeds to put flesh on the bare bones of that "miracle." He follows the antecedents of Annie Spragg through various courses and studies the lives of all those who come into contact directly or indirectly with her life, always keeping in mind the fundamental idea about the advantage of the vital over the sterile.

At the end of the book the "miracle" is still a miracle to those who like very much to believe such things and it is still lacking in meaning to those who are skeptical. Without saying it, Louis Bromfield conveys the impression that the real miracle is the mystery and the fascination of the human life behind the miracle. There is a miracle but it does not consist of crucifixion marks on anyone's hands and feet.

The real miracle lies in the art of a writer who can evoke human lives out of the dead past and who can make them live again on the pages of a book. Louis Bromfield has succeeded in this not only for a single person or for two, three or for a whole company. It is a great triumph.

IT TAKES ALL-BRAN TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

More and more people are eating bran for "health's sake" these days. And it's a fine thing. But not everybody realizes what a difference there is in so-called "brans." Doctors say it takes 100% bran to supply enough roughage to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only be partly effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. It does a work part-bran products cannot hope to equal. Two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN often. With milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Be sure you get genuine Kellogg's though—in the red-and-green package. Use it in cooking. Sprinkle into soups. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DARROW ASSAILS INTOLERANCE IN PLEA FOR SMITH

Famous Chicago Lawyer Attacks Prohibition in Speech to Huge Crowd

Attacking the Republican party with bitter sarcasm and biting scorn and condemning the forces which are dragging the religious issue into the presidential campaign, Clarence E. Darrow, Chicago criminal lawyer, at Lawrence Memorial chapel Thursday night appealed to Appleton voters to support Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for president.

More than 2,000 people jammed the chapel to the doors, overflowed the platform behind the speaker and stood in the aisles for more than two hours while the Chicago attorney, with short and snappy sentences, ridiculed the Republican administration and Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee for president.

"The real issue in this campaign is liberty of religion," Mr. Darrow said. "There is no hiding that fact. It is being dragged into the campaign by churchmen who attempt to disguise their actions by saying they oppose Smith because he is wet."

Mr. Darrow referred directly to the Board of Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist church which, he said, maintains a large office directly across the street from the national capitol for the direct purpose of influencing legislation. He said this group believes that all pleasure is sin.

The reactionary and tyrannical forces of this country are at work to defeat Smith and by these forces I mean the Ku Klux Klan, the W. C. T. U., the Anti Saloon league and the Board of Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist church.

"I am not seeking office and I have enough money so that I needn't worry and I can say what I think in this campaign," Mr. Darrow said. And he proceeded to do so. His address consisted of a sarcastic attack on the G. O. P. administration of Harding and Coolidge and of the part which Hoover took in these administrations. His talk was punctuated with humorous remarks and references which kept the huge audience in laughter almost continually.

Following his statement that he intended to say what he thought he directed a bitter attack at the W. C. T. U. with its "ten and gossip" parties which he said no one dared take away from them. He scored the Protestant churchmen who were making capital of the fact that Smith is a Catholic in order to defeat him.

PLEAS FOR LIBERTY

"If there is ever a time when the people of the country need to demonstrate that personal freedom and religious liberty are fundamentals which make the United States the greatest nation in the world and which keep it that—it is now," Mr. Darrow said.

The second big issue of the campaign is prohibition, he indicated. "This is a nation of hypocrites who are drinking wet and voting dry because some political organization, in the guise of a church, tells them to vote that way," he said.

Mr. Darrow said he was talking of prohibition from hearsay because since the law went into effect he has not yet seen any of it. The only prohibition, he said, occurred among those poor people who didn't have enough money to buy their liquor.

"I am wet and I hate prohibition," Mr. Darrow said. "People should have the right to choose their own food and drink, I believe, and no one should be allowed to dictate. I am not a fanatic. I wouldn't even think of passing a law which would compel the drys to take a drink. Why should I suffer because some other man drinks to excess. Will these prohibitionists attempt to regulate my eating because some people eat to excess? I believe that the only method to bring about temperance is to teach people self control."

HITS PROHIBITION

"The prohibition law has been productive of a class of spies, informers, perjurers and murderers and I admire the courage and fearlessness of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who in the face of a dry plank adopted by the Democratic convention announces he will work for a sane solution of the problem. You can't enforce the law without honest enforcement officers and I don't believe there is a prohibition agent who remains honest for a week. In fact I believe they are all crooks."

Returning to the participation of the church in politics, Mr. Darrow said a committee of Methodist ministers had waited on the platform committees of both parties, wrote the dry planks for each platform, and then forced their adoption by the committees on the threat that if they weren't adopted they would swing their votes to the opposite party.

COMMENDS "OLD BOB"

A great round of applause burst forth when Attorney Darrow credited "Old Bob" LaFollette for instituting the proceeding which uncovered the oil scandals.

"Would that there were more men with a fanaticism for honesty, a zeal for truthfulness and a love for the people such as had Old Bob LaFollette," he said.

Mr. Darrow briefly mentioned each member of the cabinet at the time the oil lands were illegally leased to private corporations and declared that never once, not even after the scandals were uncovered, did Herbert Hoover raise his voice in criticism or reproach of the attempt to rob the people of millions of dollars. Mr. Darrow offered proof to indicate that Hoover had authentic knowledge of the affair while it was going on.

He ridiculed the G. O. P. claims that Hoover is a great statesman and an engineer and asked to be shown some grounds on which these claims were based. He said that once Hoover was a candidate for president of the United States on both tickets and he was willing to accept either or both. He said that when Hoover learned, however, that the Republicans controlled more votes than the Democrats that he switched to the elephant. When he was with Wilson he was for the league of nations and when he was with Harding and Coolidge he was against it.

"Hoover is merely a politician looking for a job while Alfred Smith is one of the biggest men in the United States today and the most capable for the presidency," Mr. Darrow said.

ADVISES RECORD STUDY

He asked the people to compare the records of Smith and Hoover, the former having a perfect record of service to the people while the latter has nothing more to offer than that he had spent almost 20 years in England, came to America 10 years ago, and now is seeking the presidency.

Smith's campaign speeches are clear, concise and understandable but Hoover evades issues and refuses to take a stand on anything and when Smith asks him a question he makes nothing but an evasive reply on some matter which is not related according to Mr. Darrow.

He painted a picture of Harding as a president for the rich, of Coolidge as the "I-do-not-choose-to-run" president and said that the Republicans had picked Hoover for the next president because they felt he wouldn't say anything more than Coolidge has said since he was president.

Pointing to Governor Smith's record as governor of New York, to his personality, Mr. Darrow urged Appleton Democrats to give him a big margin at the polls.

Before the address Mr. Darrow was the guest of honor at a banquet at Conway hotel at which about 75 prominent Democrats were present. Stephen D. Balliet, chairman of the Outagamie County Democratic club, presided at the session at the chapel.

Market Will Continue Upward Until Cold Weather, Dealers Report

There is a marked increase in prices on some vegetables and fruits on the market this week, local dealers report. ### MODERN YOUNG WOMAN NEW FILM'S PROBLEM

What is wrong with the present generation? "Our Dancing Daughters" at Fischers Appleton Theatre Saturday and Sunday shows two sides to this very modern question.

And the answers supplied in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature show that if, indeed, youth is to be criticized, the parents themselves are in no position to voice the censure.

The theme in this modernistic production which Harry Beaumont directed from an original story from the pen of Josephine Lovett is based upon environment. Children, the plot shows, usually reflect the circumstances of their home life.

Three very modern young women provide the motivation for the swiftly-moving film narrative and in these roles Joan Crawford, Dorothy Sebastian and Anita Page bring to the screen splendid characterizations of three types of flapperhood.

Johnny Mack Brown is the young man whose affections and millions

Hoover Radio Bus Here Tonight

Here is a picture of the Hoover-Curtis "transcontinental radio bus" which will be Outagamie-co Friday. It will be at Kaukauna at 4:15 Friday afternoon; Little Chute at 5 o'clock; and Kimberly at 5:30. At 7:30 the bus will be parked on the Soldier square across from the city hall where a program will be given. Chancellor William Deschner of Denver, Col., and J. P. Beuseher, Milwaukee, are speakers accompanying the bus. It is being brought to the county under the auspices of the "regular" Outagamie County Republican club headed by W. H. Zuehlke.

occupy the attentions of Miss Crawford and Miss Page in the film-making of the ultra-modern story, and Nils Asther, as Miss Sebastian's husband, gives a striking portrayal as the husband who tries to forget his wife's past indiscretions but cannot erase suspicions from his mind.

The production has been filmed upon a lavish scale in keeping with its modernistic motif, and was photographed with the newly-perfected incandescent lighting equipment, the first time the new lights have ever been used exclusively in any film.

In the stellar supporting cast of this M-G-M triumph are Kathryn Williams, Eddie Nugent, Dorothy Cummings, Huntley Gordon, Evelyn Hall and Sam DeGrasse.

"DO YOUR DUTY" AN ENTERTAINING COMEDY OF NEW YORK POLICE

Do you love to laugh? Are you fond of human nature and its frailties as well as its good qualities? If so you will be entertained hugely by "Do Your Duty" at the Elite Theatre today, Saturday and Sunday. Charlie Murray stars in the First National picture as a police officer, one of New York's finest.

There is little need to tell the film patron of Charlie Murray's delightful and humorously humorous characterizations. It is acknowledged that in his particular sphere he has no equals.

In his support in "Do Your Duty" which is all about the trial of a policeman who is framed by crooks, appear Doris Dawson, charming ingenue lead; Yola d'Avril, a French girl, who plays a heavy role; Charles Delaney in the juvenile lead; Lucien Littlefield as a Scotch tailor; Aggie Herring as Murray's wife, Charles McHugh and Ed Brady as two crooks. A colored miscreant is played by Washington Blue.

With this line-up of artists and with a story that abounds in fun, there is no question about its entertaining qualities. William Beaumont directed with skill and a fine sense of humor.

There is just enough pathos in the story to enhance the comedy and this balance makes the story decidedly interesting.

PHILIPPINES ARE GREAT RESERVOIR OF NEW WEALTH

Survey Shows Islands Need Capital, Machinery and Change in Laws

Manila — (AP) — The economic rebirth of the Philippines, with its promise of new wealth to America's Asiatic empire, has been envisaged in a survey made for Governor General Stimson by Lyman P. Hammond, vice president of the Electric Bond and Share Company of New York.

The islands need capital, machinery and a radical change in several important laws permitting large scale operations, says the report, before their development can proceed.

Many of Mr. Hammond's findings were made the subject of recommendations by Governor Stimson in his message to the legislature. Copies of the report were distributed among the legislators.

There is much opposition to changing the land law, but it is generally agreed that many of the commercial laws are antiquated, and it is possible that some revision will be made at the present session or the next one. The matter is now being studied by a legislative committee.

Those legislators who oppose a liberalization of the land law contend that the land should be held as an inheritance for future generations, so that there will be many land owners instead of a few large ones when the population of the islands increases. There also is a group which holds, as does former Resident Commissioner Gabaldon, that "every American dollar invested in the islands is a nail in the coffin of Philippine independence, and that, therefore, outside capital is not desirable."

Sees Future Hunting As Planned Scientific Game

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

While we may not be here to witness it, in the days to come the entire nature of our present day game birds and animals will be changed. By that I mean that, instead of going forth as we do now to hunt the partridge, Woodcock, snipe and even deer, the nimrods of the future will tramp over well regulated farms in pursuit of ring-neck pheasant, the Hungarian partridge and such other birds as science will determine to be successfully propagated in such environment.

When the cover disappears the deer will go with it, just as our brook trout will do so far as surviving in a natural state is concerned. Of course, however, these animals and the trout can and will be to a certain extent successfully raised on the farms and in man made ponds. But they will no longer be "wild" game. The fisherman will no doubt be charged so much per pound and be allowed to sit in rocking chairs at the edge of some pond where he can dangle his bait in the water, and stop when he has taken the limit of liver-fish.

This is not a pleasant contemplation. We would like to think that our children are going to be able to hunt and fish as we do now, to a somewhat limited extent. Civilization, however, is bound to push back or eliminate entirely our wild life. That is something which we cannot prevent, but we can defer its death by sane regulations and propagation indefinitely, or until at least civilization.

There is a closed season in force, but did it come too late? In all my travels so far this year I believe I can count on the fingers of my hands all the birds I saw. There was a time when they were more common than the barnyard chickens, and the farmers relied to quite an extent upon them for food. There was a time when the writer, personally, bagged many snipe within what is now the city limits of Green Bay. And some years back, it was not uncommon for a wild deer to invade the cities when too closely pressed by a stray dog. Game

THE members of Paul Whiteman's band, living as they do in the world's finest hotels, are expert judges of good food ... artists of epicurean tastes.

GOOD LUCK is no ordinary margarine made of inexpensive vegetable oils. It derives its wonderful, rich flavor and its highly nourishing qualities from selected meat products. Yet it costs but a trifle more than common grades ... very much less than expensive spreads-for-bread.

TOWNS CAN'T FIGHT FIRES FOR BUSINESS

Madison—(AP)—There is nothing in the statutes to confer on a town of city to purchase fire fighting equipment with a view to going into the business of extinguishing fires for a price in neighboring towns, said an opinion from the attorney general to J. E. Kennedy, state fire marshal. He was advised that a previous opinion still held, to the effect that towns have no power, either, to enter into agreements to jointly purchase and maintain fire fighting equipment.

Mr. Kennedy's request for an opinion was based on the desire of Edgerton to get equipment and agree with nearby towns to protect them, at a certain rate of payment.

Now—Comes Soap in Condensed Form

and Like Condensed Foods, Saves You Money

FROM the laboratories of the Palmolive-Peet Company, one of the world's largest soap-makers, comes this new invention . . . soap in condensed form.

Knowing the savings made by condensing milk, vegetables and other food products, our chemists strove to apply these same economy principles to soap.

Kwiksol is the result. This is a unique new-type soap from which have been removed 57% air and 20% moisture.

Our laboratory tests show that Kwiksol will go farther and wash quicker than any soap we know. A package contains two and one-third times as much as it would if Kwiksol were of ordinary density. That's vital. Think of the saving! This new condensed soap has tremendous detergent power. An automatic water-softening agent greatly hastens its cleaning action. Stained and grimy clothes—the soiled line of cuffs and collars—Kwiksol cleanses these with a speed . . . thoroughness new in your experience.

Kwiksol will not hurt your hands, powerful detergent though it is. Use this condensed soap just as you would any other. For dishes, washing fine things, clearing, laundry.

By simply lifting the package when you buy this condensed soap, you can see how much more you get for your money. Kwiksol weighs over 1 1/2 pounds. Probably never have you bought a package of soap so heavy for its price, 25 cents.

We invite you to try Kwiksol. One package will enable you to see how much longer this new kind of soap lasts, how much more easily Kwiksol cleans because of its water-softening feature, how in every way it is superior to old forms of soap.

Dishes glisten. No soapy film remains to cloud when Kwiksol is used in dishwashing

Hands remain soft and white

Start today using this newest product for all household uses. Only a test of Kwiksol will reveal how really important this invention is. The savings possible by using condensed soap are too great to be ignored. Buy Kwiksol at your grocer's.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS MAY REMOVE "AD" SIGNS

Madison — (AP)—County highway commissioners may remove advertising signs that are on the right of way on any state trunk highway even though they be inside the corporate limits of a village, town or city, the attorney general ruled in an opinion to the state highway commission.

The commission has previously been told that the law is clear on removal of signs that are on state property, and that roadside newspapers receiving tubes with the name of the paper upon them may be likewise removed, but questions arose as to the ability of the county highway officers to remove the signs that crop up eternally on the edges of towns, still inside the corporate limits.

Suel O. Arnold, one of the assistants in the attorney general's office, was author of the opinion, which advised that such removal was permissible under the law.

INSTALL UNDERGROUND CABLE IN TRAIN YARDS

Linemen of the local Wisconsin Telephone Exchange are installing an underground cable on the main line of the Chicago and Northwestern freight yards between N. Division and N. Morrison streets. Telephone and telegraph cables are being placed under ground to eliminate overhead wiring, according to W. B. Busing, line agent of the railroad company. The Western Union telegraph company completed their work along the tracks several weeks ago.

PAVEMENT WORK ON Z NEARING COMPLETION

About three quarters of a mile of asphalt pavement has been laid by the Valley Engineering and Construction company on county trunk Z between Appleton and Kimberly. Work has been hampered by rains, but it is expected the two mile gap between this city and Kimberly will be ready for use within a few weeks.

Operations will probably be abandoned after the gap is completed because of cold weather, and a soft spot in the road at the foot of the Kimberly hill which is not ready for paving, will not be improved until spring.

The Week's Prize Simplified Baking Recipe

A Joy to Inexperienced Housewives
Cake Mixing Time, this enticing CHOCOLATE ROLL, 8 minutes

Mrs. Taylor Thompson seems pleased with her Chocolate Roll. She says: "Nothing but 'Kitchen-tested' flour will ever come in my house again."

An Adventure in "Kitchen-tested" Baking

You may think you couldn't bake a Chocolate Roll like this in a week of trying. But it's 98% certain that you can, due to a new way in baking. Of the first 100 women who tried it, 98 succeeded perfectly. And the two who failed blamed their own mistakes, not the recipe!

You must use "Kitchen-tested" flour. Ask your grocer for GOLD MEDAL "KITCHEN-TESTED" FLOUR. The words

"Kitchen-tested" are on every sack. Get that brand of flour before you try this recipe.

Cut out along this line and save

RECIPE... Chocolate Roll

3 eggs, 3/4 cup cream of tartar, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cocoa, 2 tsp. GOLD MEDAL "KITCHEN-TESTED" FLOUR, 1/4 cup salt, 1/2 cup vanilla, powdered sugar.

METHOD
1. Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold a point, adding cream of tartar while they are foamy. 2. Gradually add half the sugar, beating it in. 3. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. 4. Add remaining sugar to egg yolks and beat thoroughly. 5. Sift cocoa, flour and salt together, add to yolk mixture and beat thoroughly. 6. Add vanilla. 7. Fold into egg white mixture. 8. Line a baking sheet with well greased wrapping paper and spread mixture over paper not more than 1/4 inch thick and bake. 9. When baked, remove from oven, turn upside down on towel or cloth sprinkled with powdered sugar. Remove paper quickly and while cake is still hot, roll loosely in towel as for jelly roll, but without adding filling. The towel powdered with sugar can be rolled in with the cake to prevent roll sticking together. 10. When cake is thoroughly cooled and just before serving, unroll and spread with filling. Roll again and place on plastic for serving. 11. Serve with hot chocolate sauce.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

CONTRACT BRIDGE

Continuing our series of Contract Bridge hands in which two partners hold great strength and do all the bidding, we give today and tomorrow powerful No Trump holdings which illustrate the interesting and trying question of whether or not to bid for a slam.

Make up your mind how you would bid the above hands before you read the description which follows.

THE BIDDING

South should bid three No Trumps. His hand counts a total of 22 (21 is the minimum that justifies an original three No Trump bid) and has the other essential, viz., every suit stopped. The game bid is therefore thoroughly justified.

North, facing a three No Trump bid, with a hand counting 10 and at least one honor in every suit, sees a good chance for a slam. Being Aceless, North knows that a slam contract will be dangerous unless South has "150 Aces," but a bid of four No Trumps is not apt to be harmful, especially as it will tell South that North has not either the Ace of Diamonds or Ace of Clubs. It gives that message because, with a Minor Ace, North would have started his slam suggestion by bidding four of the Minor, not four No Trumps.

After North's four No Trumps, South passes. He knows that the adversaries have the two Minor Aces and therefore trying for a slam would be fatal. With either of the Minor Aces and North's invitation, South would have been tempted to bid a bit because the remainder of his hand is very strong and he knows that North has great help for a No Trump.

It will be noted that North and

MERCHANTS SELECT NOV. 22 AT DATE FOR CHRISTMAS OPENING

Retail Trades Division Decides Against Holding Retail Exposition

Appleton stores will hold their Christmas opening beginning Nov. 22 and continuing to Dec. 24, it was decided at a meeting of members of the retail division of the chamber of commerce Thursday morning. Efforts will be made to decorate city streets and have all merchants cooperate in special displays during the month. C. B. Partridge and Gerald Galpin were appointed members of a committee to investigate possibility of special lighting arrangements on the streets. They have power to get on any feasible plan.

The members of the division turned down the offer of a company to put on a retail exposition here on the grounds there would not be enough benefit derived. The promoters of the project maintained the show would pay for itself but the merchants did not believe it worth the trouble.

KIWANIANS HEAR ABOUT MERCHANDISE BUSINESS

Milwaukee (AP)—Motor truck loads of candy, gum, malt extract, near beer, potato chips, pencils, note books, blotters and novelties will be included in the automobile procession of the Milwaukee Junior Association of Commerce on its seventh annual booster tour through Wisconsin this week end according to announcement of Frank T. Flynn, president.

These will be distributed at each of the twenty-three cities, towns and villages at which stops will be made. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and at places through which the procession will only pause for distribution.

A schedule of 25 miles and hour has been set for the trip, which has been figured out to represent a total of 454 miles. The motorvan is to leave Milwaukee at 8 a. m. Friday, after a sunrise breakfast down town, and to return to Milwaukee at will, following the break-up after a banquet Sunday afternoon at Oshkosh, as guests of the Oshkosh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

About 100 automobiles are expected to make the trip, Flynn says, as members of the Sheboygan and Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce will join in along the route, Sheboygan at Waupun and Oshkosh at Berlin.

Finance Committee
Members of the finance committee of the county board will meet at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, Friday afternoon. The committee will act on some applications for more time in which to pay drainage taxes in some parts of the county.

WORKMAN INJURED IN FALL FROM LADDER

Leo Schultz, Kaukauna, an employee of the Ditter Plumbing Co. of that city, was injured, perhaps seriously, about 3:30 Thursday morning when he fell from a ladder on which he was working in the basement of St. Mary school, Kaukauna. Fellow workmen did not see him fall, but their attention was called to the accident by the sound of the ladder when it struck the floor.

Schultz was able to get up by himself, but he appeared dazed, and fell down again when he attempted to walk. He was taken to the office of Dr. W. Nolan, Kaukauna, and then brought to St. Elizabeth hospital for further examination. Attending physicians had not determined the extent of his injuries early this afternoon.

GARFIELD WON AS PARTY REFUSED TO RENOMINATE GRANT

Civil War Hero Beaten by Dark Horse After Leading in Vote for 35 Ballots

(EDITOR'S NOTE: How Garfield, the dark horse, beat Grant's third term aspirations and was elected over General Hancock is told in this chapter of "The Presidential Parade" Rodney Dutcher's series on presidential politics of other days.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Copyright, 1928, by Post. Pub. Co.)
Washington—In one of the greatest political conventions in history, the Old Guard choked on the third term issue, but never surrendered. In the year ex-President Ulysses S. Grant made his second bid for 12 years in the White House and was only beaten by a dark horse after leading the Republican convention balloting for 35 ballots.

The party spoilsman had had lean pickings under President Hayes and longed for a return to the good old days when men might become wealthy and powerful and through executive favor. The Grant movement was led by Senator Roscoe Conkling, patronage overlord of New York.

HAYES SAVES PARTY
Hayes' regeneration of the government was all that saved the party from defeat in the 1880 election. He had cleaned and scrubbed it, actually trying to get the government service out of politics and had restored public confidence in Republicanism. He had released South Carolina and Louisiana from military and carpet-bag control.

The contest was between Grant and Blaine. Actually it was between Blaine and Conkling, who had hated Blaine with undying hate since Blaine, as a congressman had referred to "this grandiloquent swell, his majestic, supercilious, overpowering, turkeygobbler strut!" and then compared him with another man as "mud to marble, dunghill to a diamond, a singed cat to a Bengal tiger, a whinnying puppy to a roaring lion." Conkling hoped to nominate and elect Grant and then have Grant make him president four years later. With the south now admittedly Democratic he held that the party must name a strong military hero who could first be elected and then restore the negro franchise for the party's benefit.

When the convention met at Chicago the New York-Pennsylvania politicians who had defeated Blaine in 1876, believed they had the convention rigged to impose the unit rule. This would have given Grant enough additional strength to insure his nomination. But a majority of the national committee turned out to be anti-Grant and the unit rule was eliminated. Other plans of the high-handed steam roller—some rather dishonorable—were also blocked.

Conkling made a splendid emotional speech placing Grant in nomination although it was vindictive against Blaine as to solidify all Blaine delegates against Grant for good. Conkling had undertaken to dominate the convention by browbeating all who opposed him. He was so insolent and dictatorial that everyone but the Grant men began to hate him.

The anti-Grant forces were led by

He Beat Grant

James A. Garfield . . . "by four million Republican firesides God prepares the verdict."

General James A. Garfield there in the interests of Senator John Sherman of Ohio, Contrasted with Conkling, he was fair, kind and affable. Everyone began to like him. It was he who followed Conkling with a plea for Sherman. Quietly and calmly, he appealed to the delegates for peace and order.

"Not here, in this brilliant circle," he said, "but by four million Republican firesides there God prepares the verdict which will determine the wisdom of our work to-night."

At one point he paused and asked: "Now, gentlemen, what do we want?" "We want Garfield!" yelled a delegate and afterward many charged that Garfield, doublecrossing Sherman, had plotted this incident. His torians and biographers differ on that.

SUDDEN TURN TO GARFIELD
On Monday the first ballot gave Grant 304, Blaine 284 and Sherman 93, with four favorite sons holding out and 378 necessary to nominate. There were 28 ballots the first day, Grant leading. Men who would take neither held the balance of power. When 84 votes were suddenly cast for Garfield on the 34th he arose to protest, but Chairman George F. Hoar cut him off as out of order. Fifty Blaine delegates went to him on the 35th and he is said to have collapsed with surprise as he won with 399 on the 36th. The Grant-Conkling forces were allowed to name for vice president Chester A. Arthur, an unpopular politician who had been fired by Hayes as collector of the port of New York.

TILDEN WITHDRAWS
Democrats had intended to renominate Tilden. Persuaded that he could not be elected with Tammany determined to keep New York from him at all costs, he withdrew. But when two New York delegates fought for convention seats, the Tammany group was thrown out on the ground that it had knifed Tilden in '76 and had promised to do so again. Then General Winfield S. Hancock was nominated on the second ballot with a platform calling on the country to avenge the "crime of '76."

For the first time since the war, no one "waved the bloody shirt" in that campaign and the two military heroes, now gallant, courageous and

WASHINGTON AND OREGON FIGHTING ON LOCAL ISSUES

Wet-dry Question May Split Vote of Both Parties in Washington

Seattle, Wash.—(AP)—Republican chieftains in Washington re-confident their party's presidential candidate will profit by their "normal" overwhelming majority, but in the neighboring state to the south, Oregon, Democratic leaders are planning hopes to a considerable, if not exceptionally strong, Smith sentiment.

Washington Republicanism, however, is experiencing party friction within the state, and the leaders' confidence with respect to the national ticket does not extend to the state line-up, in which the nomination of Gov. Roland H. Hartley to succeed himself is said to have caused widespread resentment and even, in some cases, an open bolt to the standard of the Democratic hope, Scott Bulitt.

The Democratic vote in Washington is ordinarily so small that precinct election officials sometimes fail to copy the Democratic results on the unofficial returns blanks. Even Smith leaders admit that the New York governor has a microscopically small chance of winning. It would take a landslide in the big cities to give Smith Washington's seven electoral votes, as in so-called normal years there are about five Republican votes in the state to one Democrat.

Nevertheless, the wet-dry question is a wedge which may split the vote of both parties. Washington went dry before national prohibition and Democrats are not banking too much on wet sentiment. Smith followers, however, point out that in the September primaries candidates who had been endorsed by the state anti-saloon league were squelched, and some political prognosticators estimated that the vote ratio was 80 per cent wet.

But it is the fight in their own backyard that has been taking the generally admired politicians, called each other no names. But Hancock's supporters made savage assaults on Garfield's character, accusing him of immorality, corruption and whatnot. Their campaign slogan became the figure "329," since Garfield had made $329 profit on Credit Mobilier stock and they painted, chalked and printed the number on sidewalks, doors, walls and in newspapers. The celebrated Morey letter, a forgery in which Garfield was supposed to have advocated importation of Chinese labor, was distributed in bales on the Pacific coast at the last moment, losing him California and one or two other states.

The Grant-Conkling faction was consolidated late in the campaign when Garfield promised it its share in patronage. Prosperity had overtaken the country since 1876 and the people refused to get excited about the "crime." The Democratic campaign was poorly organized and poorly financed and Garfield won by a bare 10,000 vote plurality among 9,000,000 cast. The count, popular and electoral: Garfield . . . 9,454,000 214 Hancock . . . 4,444,000 155 Weaver (Populist) . . . 308,000 mind of Republicans off the national situation. It began with the election of Governor Hartley four years ago. First the legislature, then each of the important state elective officers, became involved in a state-house elimination contest.

Both the governor and his political enemies intended the September primary as a deciding bout to settle the issue. The governor proposed an entire slate of elective officials who he said would work in harmony with cludes Portland, to start a landslide for the New Yorker. Multnomah county has about one-third of the votes in Oregon, and of these only about one-third are normally Democratic. Political experts point out that Smith would have to hold every Democrat in the county and grab off one out of every three Republicans. But not all the Democrats appear to favor their party's nominee and wet sentiment among the Republicans has not yet crystallized to that extent in Smith's favor. Oregon is not electing a governor this year.

BELGIUM MAKING BEST RECOVERY FROM WAR LOSSES

Little Unemployment in Country Now — Taxation Is Comparatively Low

BY MILTON BRUNNER
London—Of all the war-torn and war-shocked countries of Europe Belgium probably has made the most complete recovery. There is little unemployment in the country and taxation is low compared with some other European nations.

During the four years of the war the flat plains of Flanders saw constant fighting. Farm houses were burned or smashed. Fields were shell-pitted. Trenches were dug. Pill boxes were constructed. I have just recently been riding around on the Flanders fields in the neighborhood of Furnes, Dixmude and other little towns immortal in the story of Belgium's defense.

It is hard to believe that there ever was a war. Every inch of soil seems to be under cultivation. The shocks of wheat are gleaming in the sunlight. The farmers seemed more prosperous than ever. Ramshackle houses and barns of before the war had given place to neat brick houses and spacious barns and stables. The roads were fine. Civilized life was functioning well.

The same thing is true of the historic towns which suffered so heavily from bombardment. Ypres—the "Wipers" of the British Tommy—is typical. Ypres was the headquarters of the British generals in Flanders. The Germans never took it, but they shelled it with clock-like regularity.

When the war ended Ypres was a mere heap of rubble. Hardly a house remained standing. Today the town is entirely rebuilt. It is probably in better trim than it has been for centuries. The builders are still at work restoring the damaged parts of the historic cathedral. The only ruin in the place is that of the famous and beautiful Cloth Hall which was battered to pieces by German artillery.

The equally famous Louvain also suffered terribly from fire and bombardment. The cathedral was damaged. The library and many houses were destroyed. Only the exquisitely beautiful town hall escaped. The houses all have been rebuilt spick and span. The cathedral is repaired. A new library—gift of American generosity stands in place of the one that is gone.

Belgium, which suffered so much is today busy and prosperous and happy.

RECEIVES POSTCARD DELIVERED BY "ZEP"

A postcard from Friedrichshafen, Germany, brought to America by the Graf Zeppelin, giant airship which arrived from Germany Monday, was delivered at the Schaefer Hardware company Thursday morning. The card, sent by the chairman of the Leipzig Trade Fair management corporation, bears the following message in English: "By Zeppelin ocean mail, I am sending you the compliments of the biggest goods exchange place of the world. I hope that I shall have the pleasure of welcoming you in Leipzig for the Spring Fair on March 3, 1929."

HANTSCHER CALLS CLERK'S MEETING

County Clerk Issues Programs and Invitations This Week

Plans have been completed by John E. Hantscher, county clerk, for the annual meeting of town, city and village clerks of Outagamie-co which is to be held Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the county courthouse. Mr. Hantscher is sending copies of the program and invitations to the various clerks this week.

During the morning the clerks will hold an open forum meeting at which various office problems will be discussed. One of the most important discussions will be on the preparation of the annual clerk's report for the secretary of state. There is considerable trouble over these reports each year. Mr. Hantscher said. Often many of the reports are returned for corrections and changes. An attempt will be made to instruct the clerks as to just what the report should contain. Among other problems to be discussed are: preparing vital statistics reports, filing of records, filing of mortgages and liens and others. At noon there will be a dinner at Hotel Northern and after dinner T. H. Ryan, Appleton attorney, will give an address on What a Clerk Owe to His Community. Henry Van Straten, principal of the Stephenson schools, will talk on Betterment of Schools and What They Mean to the Public.

IS FOOTBALL
SAFE FOR THE
YOUNG GRANGE?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
It is almost impossible for mothers of boys to keep from worrying when fall comes along and the inevitable football teams organize.

The first frosty air seems to reek of pigskin nowadays for the average boy, be he 3 or 18. Nutting parties and "cooning" are no longer the autumn pastimes they used to be. There are anxious moments when mothers first observe the symptoms of football fever, and they begin to look anxiously to their supplies of arnica, bandage rolls, adhesive plaster and other first-aid equipment. It is the best they can do, for most of them have discovered the futility of protest.

The affinity of a boy for a football either personally or by proxy, is as natural as the day. But when any human being develops such an obsession as the small, medium, or big boy does for a football, there is usually a reason. There is decidedly a reason in football.

It is group spirit—team spirit, or whatever you want to call it. Let us not despise the thrill of a forward pass or a goal kick, but such things alone would not make the ellipsoid immortal.

Team spirit is one of the finest influences on character that can be found. It need not, of course, necessarily be football; other games can and do arouse team spirit. But I mention football particularly not only because it is in the air just now, but because so many mothers are beginning to worry about their boys getting hurt.

True, every year brings its crop of sprains, breaks and even more serious casualties, but I would venture to suggest that the average boy is safer on a football field than he is in an automobile nowadays. I mean safer from really serious accidents. The question of football versus lessons is different. Each family must decide that for itself, or rather for its young Grange.

I can only answer that there is a time and place for everything. My thought is chiefly for apprehensive mothers who are hesitating about giving their boys permission to play, on the ground that they are likely to get hurt in a "foolish game that doesn't amount to anything."

No clean-cut outdoor sport ever can be that.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

UP in the air the Tines flew upon the plane. The sparrow knew just how to cut right through the wind. He'd done that trick for years. All birds, of course, soon learn with ease just how to ride upon the breeze. Their big wings keep them in the air, and it's their tail that steers.

The sparrow glanced down on the bunch and saw that they were eating lunch. "Hey there!" he shouted. "Don't forget that I get hungry too. If you don't mind, I'll gladly take a bite or two of chocolate cake." "Why, sure," exclaimed wee Coo. "There is naught too good for you."

Then Clowzy stood up on the plane. "Don't eat so much you'll get a pain," he shouted to the sparrow, as the bird ate from his hand. The bird then said, "Oh, I won't stuff. I know when I have had enough. Two bites will keep me going till we all decide to land."

Just at this moment came a next story. bang, and soon two more shots.

(The Tines are in a bad fix in the hang, and soon two more shots.)

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Grapes cereal, cream, eggs with cheese, reheated spinach, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Bacon en casserole, baked potatoes, creamed cauliflower, apple sauce, molasses cookies, milk tea.

DINNER—Corn loaf with tomato sauce, scalloped sweet potatoes, stuffed celery, honey dew melon balls, coffee.

Since an unusually heavy luncheon is served a light dinner without meat is planned. If the corn is grated quite fine, children may be allowed to eat the loaf and they may of course have the sauce, sweet potatoes and celery. Children under 6, however, should have their sweet potato baked, their celery unstuffed and the tomato sauce served with toast sticks in place of the corn loaf. A dish of apple sauce left from luncheon could be substituted for the melon balls.

Eggs with Cheese
One tablespoon butter, 1-2 cup milk, 4 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 4 squares hot buttered toast, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, paprika.

Melt butter in small frying pan, add milk and bring to the scalding point. Carefully add eggs, one at a time. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover pan. Keep just below the boiling point and cook until eggs are beginning to set. Sprinkle with cheese and finish cooking. Place an egg on each square of toast, sprinkle with paprika and parsley and pour milk around. Serve at once.

Tweeds Achieve New Formality For Fall

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

New York—Society folk are riding, motorizing, flying and walking out to meet these gorgeous Indian summer days in attire of fitting gaiety.

The continued warm sunshine sheds a gala feeling around the last of the polo games, the first of the football and the middle of the autumn hunts.

Everybody seems "dressed up." The new modes insist on it. Even tweeds are softer, more, luxurious and so feminine in line that they seem quite formal. Flat furs abound as trimming, to give a luxurious note.

At one single luncheon at the Colony Club I saw many different smart types of costumes. Mrs. George Sloane was lovely in a Patou blue fitted broadcloth coat, with luxurious collar and sleeve bands of blonde fox.

TWEED FROCK AND CAPE
Mrs. Robert McAdams wore a wine red outfit, tweed frock topped by matching jersey cardigan, with cluster chrysanthemums on her shoulder; Mrs. Carroll Carstairs a smartly tailored grey kasha frock, self-belted, with flaring skirt and collarless neck; Mrs. Alan H. Black, a tweed cape suit, black grey and white blouse and big black bow tie.

The futility of trying to "sum up" styles this year makes one positively sigh. Each costume seems a law in itself. Tweeds, for instance, may be ensembles, frocks, capes or habits. Maud Kahn has a mannishly tailored little suit of grey tweed, with a smart hand-woven blouse in grey, black with a touch of blue. The blouse's collar is the only soft touch, yet the little suit is so graceful that it looked far from informal.

ATTAINS FORMALITY
Mrs. Ralph Isham used a deeper grey tweed for a very dressy ensemble of frock and long coat, with flat lamb fur for the tricky scarf collar. The fur, incidentally, belted the frock—a smart, new touch.

Mrs. Hunt Dickenson raised tweed to new high levels of formality by a taupe diagonal suit with heavy white nubs in the material. It has scalloped edges and pockets and then a fancy beaver collar and stripes of the fur out lining the coat's closing.

I haven't mentioned brown recently. I really should have, for Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt uses it with beige in a checked ensemble with deep cuffs and roll collar of beaver. Her beige blouse of soft jersey tucks into the skirt.

The continued vogue of fitted lines seem to presage a real popularity of princess lines before winter is upon us. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso, wife of the late Enrico Caruso, has several stunning fitted things in her trunks recently arrived from Paris. I saw her in a lovely, slightly-fitted beige coat, with badger collar, at the polo games recently. Madame Frances Alda, who accompanied her, wore a smart brown velvet suit, with pleated inserts of figured velvet and a neared blouse.

SHIMMERING JACKETS
The cocktail jackets continue to take New York by storm. Modestly called "dinner jacket" this summer, it grows bold in cooler weather. Sleeveless or long-sleeved, fashioned of colorful velvet or shimmering paillettes on chiffon, the smart evening gown carries its own cocktail jacket.

Fashion Plaques

A NEW NECKLACE of interesting design, not unlike small padlocks is of dull oxidized silver.

ing that it was a charming gesture, and listened now:
"I can't hope that you'll forgive me, Crya—Miss Hathaway, but I hope you'll try. I—I was a cad, and I'm sorry. If you'll accept my apology and—and—be friends—His voice trailed off with odd humility.

Crystal glanced at Tony, received a slight nod of encouragement, then thrust out her right hand impulsively, making a prettier gesture than she could have perfected if she had practiced it for hours before her mirror. For the gesture was frank and genuine.

"It's all right, Dick. I'd like to be friends," Crystal said simply.

"Then that's that," Tony cut in briskly. "You're to spend the night with me, Crystal. I want to give you a double dose of aspirin, a hot mustard footbath, and other reliable remedies dear to Myrtle Street. It's not every night my girl friend nearly drowns and gives me a swell chance to show off as a nurse, and I'm going to make the most of it."

"Tony—please!" Dick cried huskily. "Just a minute—"

"I've got to put Crystal to bed," Tony denied him implacably. "I'm not mad at you any more, if that's what you want to know—"

"I'll carry Crystal into the house, if you'll give me your latchkey," Harry Blaine offered surprisingly. "The house is dark. I suppose your parents are out!"

"Bridging, the poor lams," Tony admitted. "They're so bad at it that I often wonder why they torture themselves."

Crystal, being helped from the roadster by Harry Blaine, was amazed to see that Tony was hesitating, as if drawn irresistibly by the magnet that was Dick Talbot. "I think you ought to hear what Dick has to say, Tony," she suggested—and forever renounced Richard Warrington Talbot. Not that she'd ever had him, but it was bitter-sweet to renounce the very hope of him, on this surge of love for Tony.

"Wee-e-e!" Tony reluctantly conceded, as she fished in her tiny evening handbag for her latchkey. "It'll be there in just a minute."

The actor who couldn't remember his lines

"My profession, that of acting, is a calling that quite readily tends to make one extremely nervous. Caffein for years had been my 'consolation'. I paid dearly for this consolation with sleepless nights, indigestion and jumpy nerves. Constant worry, ill temper, lack of power to concentrate and a failing memory were part of the penalty. This failing memory was a very serious matter, since my work absolutely depends upon my memorizing the various roles I play.

"A friend suggested Postum for a month. I tried it. Soon something happened... I slept all night! My nerves became more quiet, the cobwebs in my memory began to clear away, my grouch vanished. Today I am absolutely free from all my nervous troubles. Postum has changed me physically, mentally and I also might say, spiritually."

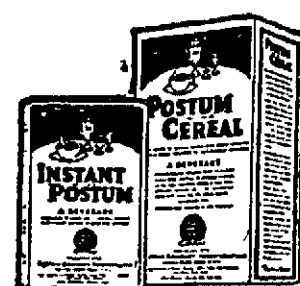

ROBERT WARREN STRAUSS,
629 Boynton Terrace, Chattanooga, Tenn.

POSTUM'S wonderful flavor and wholesome after-effects have made it the favorite mealtime drink in more than 2,000,000 American homes. It is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of any artificial stimulant in it. Nothing to irritate the nerves, to disturb sleep, or affect digestion. And Postum is so good!

—with a rich, distinctive flavor that millions prefer.

Postum costs much less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order from your grocer today—try it for thirty days, in place of caffein beverages! Then, on the basis of results, decide if you will ever go back to caffein!

OTT ELEVEN READY FOR HOMECOMING GAME AT NEENAH

Kaukauna Gridders Look for Victory as Injured Players Recover

Kaukauna-Couch Elmer Ott's Orange and Black grid team will travel to Neenah Saturday afternoon to play Neenah high school in its homecoming game at Citizens Field. A large number of local fans will travel to that city to watch the local boys perform.

The team is in tip-top shape. There are no regulars on the injured list and the sidelines will see a scrappy Kaukauna team in action. In last Saturday's game with Sturgeon Bay the boys showed a lot of fight and speed.

Neenah has a large team but it has not been very successful thus far. Word from that city states that they are working hard for a win, and this is evidenced by the fact that they are planning a huge celebration in connection with the game.

Kaukauna is the only team in the Northwestern Wisconsin interscholastic conference that has won all its games so far this season. Conference games that they will play this fall yet are Neenah, Two Rivers, and Shawano. They will also play Appleton in a non-conference game. Two Rivers is one of the strongest teams in the conference this year and a hard game is expected when the Kawmen travel to that city a week from Saturday.

MISS BEIER HIGH IN LADIES BOWLING LEAGUE

Kaukauna-Miss L. Beier rolled the high single strike on the Hilgenberg alleys Thursday night in the Ladies Bowling league by toppling 185 pins. She also rolled high three game series with a 448.

In the 7 o'clock shift, Team 8 took three straight games from Team 6, and Team 7 took two games out of three from Team 5. In the 9 o'clock shift Team 3 took three wins from Team 1 and Team 4 triumphed three times over Team 2.

Miss Day asked the cooperation of the principals in bringing about a responsible attitude toward public books on the part of the school children. Mr. Allen declared that Milwaukee and Wisconsin are receiving every consideration as the route for the inland trip of Dr. Eckener's juggernaut of the air is being planned. The complete itinerary of the ship will not be announced until it is ready to leave Lakehurst, he declared.

MAGICIANS PERFORM BEFORE STUDENTS

With weird skeleton demonstrations, sleight-of-hand performances with the inevitable apple and handkerchief and dancing dolls and gold balls defying the law of gravity—in fact, everything from cheating the Chinese stocks to losing his own shadow, was accomplished by De Jen, the magician, at his performance at the Wilson Junior high school Wednesday night. The De Jens were the first number of the school entertainment series.

However, outside of warning the audience that his tests were the result of misdirecting the attention of the observer, the magician did little to expose the secrets of his trickery. Perhaps the most remarkable part of the performance was the demonstration of mental telepathy. Names of songs suggested to De Jen by members of the audience were transmitted to his partner, Lucile Tustin, by mental telepathy and without exception she played them all—everything from Barney Google and the Old Gay Mare to Whispering Hope and My Wild Irish Rose.

Mr. Lenroot read from a letter which the Republican nominee sent to Wilson in April 11, 1919, and added: "If President Wilson had followed Hoover's advice, much suffering and hate and bitterness might have been avoided and how much quicker would good relations between the countries which had been at war have taken place."

makes every day a pleasant driving date, not because it is a "special" cold-weather gas but because cold weather brings to the surface its natural qualities which in summer are at work fully as effectively even though not so noticeably.

These are the qualities of natural quick vaporization and sharp ignition, so bred into the structure of the gas that a few degrees of colder temperature can never send them fleeing.

They are the qualities of true gasoline — in vivid contrast to the kerosenish dullness of cheapened fuels or worse still, those same adulterated products "hopped up" with injections of light gases that make bulk without power.

CHAPTER XLVIII
Rod stepped into the tiny hall and then halted abruptly. For a few seconds he fancied he had entered the wrong house. That was absurd. This was Baker's place, all right. But what was going on? Who could be here?

"Why, Baker, of course," he told himself, though still puzzled. He'd never thought about the possibility of the man having a wife. This looked like a woman's work. But it was funny they hadn't waited until he was out of the house. Perhaps they wanted him to leave at once.

He was still in the hall when suddenly he was rooted to the spot by a greeting called out to him from the kitchen. Was this an hallucination? "Rod, is that you?" the voice sounded, a bit shaky. "Come out and help me with the steak, will you?"

Rod moved on into the living room feeling just as he should have felt—completely bewildered. This couldn't be! Now he knew he was the victim of his own mind. His brooding over the past had brought him to the verge of insanity.

That table. He stood staring at it, without answering the voice from the kitchen. Oh, he was still too sane for that! Of course there were no places laid for two, no gorgeous red roses and a lace cloth.

Then he sniffed. "Oh, Lord," he groaned, "do I only imagine that heavenly smell?"

"Well, aren't you coming?" The voice from the kitchen was growing impatient—just like a wife's. For answer he moved over and touched the roses. Their feel was unmistakable. Did people imagine they felt things, too—things that weren't there? Rod had a touch of panic.

He drove out to the kitchen like a veritable madman. He would find out if he could see the owner of that voice! If he could, then there was no doubt about it—he was ready for the straight-jacket.

He saw her, standing before the kitchen table, fussing with a thick steak and not trusting herself to look up at him. He lifted his arm and drew his coat-sleeve across his eyes. Bertie Lou waited for him to say something. She heard only a half-suppressed sound of helpless misery that brought her head up with a jerk.

"Why, what's the matter with you?" she cried and rushed over as though she feared he was going to fall and she could save him. Her touch on his arm had a strange effect. What happened then was far from Bertie Lou's plans.

Rod simply took her and held her. Held her as a drowning man would hold to life. Bertie Lou could scarcely breathe. And she couldn't think at all. A humorous phrase came to her mind—"this is so sudden." It made her laugh. And the laugh, though it was barely audible for lack of strength behind it, was a sound of pure happiness. No, she was not thinking.

But she had to breathe and when she finally struggled out of Rod's embrace she remembered in a rush all that she had forgotten in this last moment.

And Rod remembered too. Bertie Lou belonged to Marco Palmer. Rod's eyes instantly became points of anguish of the soul so intense that Bertie Lou was compelled to look away from him.

"Why did you do that?" she said brokenly.

"Because I love you, Bertie Lou," Rod answered, his voice vibrant with emotion.

"Oh, but you don't!" she cried. "If you did you never could have believed what you told Lila!"

"Lila?" Rod repeated dully.

"Yes," Bertie Lou faced him with her head high and her cheeks aflame. "Lila told me what you saw at Marco Palmer's house. I went to her when I learned that she had been out here. Oh, Rod," she hurried on in a rush, "how could you believe such a thing?"

Rod stared at her a moment in dumb questioning. Then: "My God, what a blind fool I've been," he exclaimed bitterly. "Bertie Lou, you will never forgive me, will you?"

Bertie Lou sank into a chair and buried her face on her arms. Rod came over and knelt beside her. "Listen to me, please," he begged. Bertie Lou did not raise her head. Neither did she draw away from the hand he put tentatively on her arm.

"I must have been mad," he went on, "but I have some excuse, Bertie Lou. I had been disillusioned and went away in such an unaccountable fashion; you hardly wrote—just short, cool notes."

"I know about you and Lila," Bertie Lou interrupted in muffled tones. "I found out before I went away."

"There wasn't anything to find out then," Rod said with painful honesty.

Now Bertie Lou raised her head. "You told me a lie," she charged him reproachfully. "I asked you why you were late and you said you had worked at the office, or something, and you had been to Lila's apartment."

"Yes," Rod admitted. "I had, but I couldn't tell you why, Bertie Lou. I didn't want to worry you."

"And you were there when I called your office just after I got that telegram from home," Bertie Lou added. "I knew then that you were in love with Lila."

"No, don't say that!" Rod pleaded. "I won't lie to you again, even for your own sake. Please believe me. I didn't care much for Lila then—except that I believed her wonderful lies. Later I thought, 'But if she lies to you, Bertie Lou, first and last, always, then I can't first love you. And there was nothing with Lila that I can't tell you.'"

Bertie Lou allowed him to take her hand. "What you let me tell you," she said, "is that I can't break the silence in which you've begged for faith in him. She needs. Then Rod told her about the necklace and the bracelet. "She did that to cause trouble between us!" Bertie Lou cried at one point in the story. "Oh, Rod, if only you had told me why you had to save your money!"

"I couldn't when you came back from Wayville," he answered. "You had changed so. I mean I thought you had. I'm ashamed of it, Bertie Lou, but I didn't believe you would want to pay Lila the insurance money."

"I know. She had made you think I was a selfish little beast," Bertie Lou said.

"And you had a date the first night you were home," he reminded her.

"It surprised Marco more than it did you," Bertie Lou answered, smiling. "I never would have gone out with him if you hadn't told me you were having dinner with the Lores."

And so they went on, bringing up their grievances, laying them, clearing away their misunderstandings and coming nearer to each other than they had ever been before.

Suddenly Rod remembered that Bertie Lou's presence in the Baker cottage was unexplained. "Tell me how you happen to be here," he urged her.

"It's where I should be," she boasted proudly. "Right in our own home!"

She enjoyed Rod's evident perplexity, but she did not keep him long in suspense. "I had this house built with the money you sent me," she told him. "Lila did us one good turn, even if she didn't mean to. She forced us to have some money."

"But $2,000 wouldn't build this house," Rod protested.

Bertie Lou put her hands on his shoulders and looked into his eyes. "Don't say it that way," she cautioned him. "It sounds as if you didn't believe me. And we must never doubt each other again, Orle. One little lie led to all the trouble we had."

"But it began before that—the night of our wedding. I asked myself if you loved me. I should have believed that you wouldn't have married me if you hadn't. And I should have kept on believing it."

Rod took her hands off his shoulders and pressed them to his lips. "A man never had a sweeter bride," he told her. "But a man's a man, Bertie Lou. And that means the money or anything like that, but just as a matter of curiosity . . ."

"I bought it on terms, of course, silly. And it's half yours. You were the first person to answer my ad."

"With chicken feed in my pocket. But I've got a position. I take possession of a cage on Monday. It's a special work and there will be a lot of overtime, but it's with a big organization and now that I've got something to work for besides bread and butter. . . ."

"Thank goodness I've found a paying tenant for this house at last," Bertie Lou applauded. "You don't know how I've worried about the future payments."

Rod laughed. "You can sell the flowers and vegetables I've grown. A lot of your five dollars a week went for seed!"

"Then you must have been living on crackers and cheese," Bertie Lou declared, jumping up. "And I've the loveliest dinner for you! But you will have to help me with the steak."

"I can cook it to the queen's taste," Rod assured her. Suddenly Bertie Lou paused over lifting the steak to the broiler.

"You said that the first time we cooked a meal in our own home," she reminded him.

"This is a new start, too," Rod replied solemnly. "And this time we will make a go of it, won't we, Bertie Lou?"

"Let's go right out after dinner and send telegrams to our parents," Bertie Lou suggested; "and I've got to telephone poor little Bessie Rogers. She will sit up for me I'm afraid. She never trusted me very much and I think she suspected that I was head over heels in love with my caretaker. And she may discover that I've brought a weekend bag. I expected you to leave tonight," she added naively.

"Tell her that you've given me the job for life," Rod said. "I'm never going to stop taking care of you again."

"For five dollars a week?"

"For the love of the only girl in the world!"

Lawrence Gridders Meet Lake Forest On Whiting Field

Big Blues Look For First Victory Of 1928 Season

Squad Pretty Well Recovered from Injuries Sustained at Carleton

With a 12 to 0 trimming to avenge for last year's football squad and the knowledge they must produce for the home folks, the Lawrence college football team will take the field Saturday afternoon against Lake Forest university in a battle that is destined to make or break the Vikings. The game is scheduled to get under way at 2 o'clock.

The Vikings who take the field Saturday will do so without a scrimmage session, something almost unheard of in Blue football history. There are two reasons for this innovation one of which is that Coach Rasmussen feels he can't take a chance on losing men and the other is that the weather man has almost prohibited heavy practices.

Several new faces probably will be seen in the Lawrence line when it takes the field. Humphrey and Veder who formerly cavorted in the backfield probably will be playing guards or tackles and big Frank Schneller will probably be in a tackle position. However, nothing is definite because Rasmussen will have only one lineman on the injured list when Saturday rolls around. Vincent, a guard who still is trying to get the kinks out of a couple stiff muscles and ligaments.

The poison Ivy which kept Krohn out of the Carleton game, probably will be healed to the point where the big fellow can get back to work and a cut over Voelck's eye should be healed to permit his playing if necessary. The rest of the linemen report as feeling pretty good.

Rasmussen's backfield combinations are O. K. with the exception of Gelpke. He has been out for several weeks with a twisted knee and Thursday night again injured the knee. Whether it will stand the strain of a game is not known and Rasmussen probably will be reluctant to use him.

During the last week the linemen and backs worked on separate nights to permit the coaches to give a bit of special attention. Rasmussen believes he has most of the rough spots rubbed off and he actually smiled as he called a halt to things Thursday evening.

The Vikings themselves, collectively and singly, are confident they'll chalk up their first victory Saturday afternoon. The first three games which were heart breaking defeats are over and from now on no one's going to trim them in their opinion. However, they're not over confident, just the confidence that comes with knowing your stuff.

Lake Forest, although beaten in its first two starts, are confident of holding the Vikings even terms if not scoring on them. They point out that in their games so far they have shown a strong defensive line and held Carroll scoreless for three quarters before beaten down by superior weight.

The Foresters have a heavy hospital list according to reports, and their captain and quarterback probably will not play Saturday. An end, two guards and a tackle also are on the injured list.

The starting Lawrence lineup probably will find Laird and St. Mitchell on the ends, Krohn and Bickell, Phenecio and Schneller tackles, Voelck and Ehlert guards and Staufer center. The backfield lineup will have Bloomer calling the plays, Fischl doing the punting and Barrell and probably Rasmussen playing the other two positions. The latter will take the place left vacant when Humphrey was moved to the line.

FORESTER BOWLING SEASON UNDERWAY

Catholic Order of Forester Bowlers started their 1928 and 1929 season Thursday evening on the Elk alleys when their teams took the runways. The Elk alleys now are being used by the Foresters and Lutheran Brotherhood men and women but are open to other leagues or the public from 9 to 11 o'clock.

Expect Few Upsets In Saturday's Grid Games

Chicago —(AP)— So distinct are the odds in favor of three teams that old man upset, the mythical gentleman who has performed frequently on the gridiron so far this season, will have an opportunity for a big afternoon in the Big Ten Saturday. Of the four conference games, only the Indiana-Illinois contest is regarded as a toss-up by critics.

But the other three games would be stunning upsets if Michigan defeated Ohio State, Chicago stopped Minnesota and if Purdue outscored Wisconsin. In each instance, the underdog eleven has worked long and hard this week to accomplish the seemingly impossible, and Ohio State have put on their Grumme mens to forestall overconfidence.

Their ranks thinned by injuries and their morale lowered somewhat by defeats by South Carolina, and Iowa, Coach Stagg and this Chicago maroons invaded Minnesota Friday with defeat regarded as a foregone conclusion. Captain Sam Widenor, a dependable tackler, Rudy Leyers, star fullback; Wayne Cassle, guard and place kicker, and Joe Garfield, Paddy tackle, were so badly injured they weren't even taken to Minneapolis, while several of the other stars may not get into the game. Minnesota, however, was virtually free of injuries and showed vast improvement in blocking and running interference.

Michigan, defeated in its two

Much Ado About Several Things

By G. R. McIntyre

Greeting! Since taking over this task of telling people a lot of good things about sports generally and often times a few bad things so they might be surprised when the opposite happened we've intended to start a column. And you'll notice its a "column"—nothing fantastic and no frills.

Many months ago we vowed if we conducted a column we won't try guessing at football scores. However, believing that the most baseball fans pay their six bits to get at least 37½ cents worth of satisfaction abusing the umpire and that grid fans enjoy seeing a sports writer guess wrong, we've changed our minds and offer a few guesses on Saturday's grid games.

Here they are:
Appleton H. S. 13, Sheboygan 7.
Lawrence 14, Lake Forest 0.
Oshkosh 20, West Green Bay 0.

DART BASEBALLERS PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT

The third of a series of games played by the dart baseball league will be at 7:45 Friday night. The Tuttle Press team will play the Pleasant Evening club; the St. John Brotherhood will play the L. P. A. team of Neenah, while the Lempeke Specials will meet the Trinity English Lutheran Brotherhood.

While their varsity brothers are at Purdue, the "B" team under Coach Irv Uteritz will meet Oshkosh Normal in Randall stadium here. That the reserves fear the pedagogues of Howard Hancock, coach and former University of Wisconsin player, is not disputed and Uteritz has been driving his squad hard in hopes of having them ready.

The reserves will be strengthened materially by addition of seven varsity "stay-at-homes." Leading the list is "Red" Davidson, a halfback, who has been developing, but lacks experience as this is his first year of competitive football. He is a halfback and can run, pass and kick.

Vikes And Marquette Hold State Grid Fans

University Squad and Other Colleges Play on Foreign Soil

Madison —(AP)— With 13 football games of state interest scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Wisconsin college and university teams reach the peak of the football season. One game is set for Friday and the rest will be held Saturday. At no other time this year will there be so many games with state teams competing.

Topping the list is the Wisconsin-Purdue university clash at Lafayette Saturday afternoon. The Badgers will invade the Indiana city for their first western conference game, a game that will demonstrate for the first time this year the potency of the Cardinal of Wisconsin, and should give followers an indication as to the Badger's strength.

Although it upset Notre Dame 22 to 6 two weeks ago, Wisconsin did not point toward the struggle and gave no indication as to its offensive strength. In the game with Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Ia., last Saturday, the Badgers flashed a powerful offense, but the Cornell line melted away in front of fast charging Wisconsin linemen and the game was a poor criterion as to the powers of the Badgers.

Purdue, although defeated by Minnesota last week 15 to 0 and out of the Big-Ten title race, is rated as a strong team. In "Pest" Welsh, the Boilermakers have a scintillating halfback, a man who can run, kick and pass with adeptness. Moreover, the Purdue eleven is a veteran one, 22 lettermen being on the team's roster.

To add to Wisconsin worries, the Rose Ade stadium, where the game is to be played has proven a jinx to Badger football hopes, and as a result of a "Purdue Complex" has been developing. Two years ago, with Wisconsin the prime favorite, the Boilermakers on their home field, badly outplayed the visitors, and played a scoreless tie only because an 11-yard dropkick of "Cotton" Wilcox, their star, went wild in the closing minutes of the game.

While their varsity brothers are at Purdue, the "B" team under Coach Irv Uteritz will meet Oshkosh Normal in Randall stadium here. That the reserves fear the pedagogues of Howard Hancock, coach and former University of Wisconsin player, is not disputed and Uteritz has been driving his squad hard in hopes of having them ready.

The reserves will be strengthened materially by addition of seven varsity "stay-at-homes." Leading the list is "Red" Davidson, a halfback, who has been developing, but lacks experience as this is his first year of competitive football. He is a halfback and can run, pass and kick.

Indications Are Both Teams Will Use Passes

Appleton Lineup to Be Changed Because of Injuries, Ineligibility

It's an entirely revamped Appleton high school eleven that will journey to Sheboygan Saturday for the local's third conference game this season for several new faces will be shining in the line and probably one or two in the backfield. And not only that, but the Orange-men probably will uncork an entirely new system of attack—the aerial route.

Injuries and ineligibility have forced Coach Joseph Shields to make his changes. Abrahams or Minschmidt probably will be in the line in place of Manier who was injured last week while at least one guard position is a toss up between Elmon, and Breitrick. The latter, because of his experience appears first choice, however.

The changes in the backfield are brought about by Popp's ineligibility for Saturday's game because he failed to make up work. In his place Holterman and Bartman will work while crane and Kunitz will be halves and Berg at quarter.

Robbed of his line plunger, Shields has shown indication of resorting to passes to score. Throughout the week he has had his men practicing on pass formations with considerably less time on line plays and end runs.

Popp's ineligibility also has forced Shields to look elsewhere for a punter and Holterman, Crane, Kunitz and Jake Schaefer have been booting the local with about equal success. Schaefer has the edge for the job he has often performed under fire whereas the other men may be nervous with the knowledge that enemy linemen may come sailing down upon them.

Sheboygan isn't going to be a set-up for the highs, for although beaten every time this fall the lake shore boys have had all the bad luck in the world. None of their scores have shown the real strength of the team, it is said, and perhaps it will be their turn to get the break Saturday.

Coach Jake Stoll who formerly held down an end job for Lawrence, has drilled his men on end runs, and passes all week. Should both he and Shields resort to the air to score the sky probably will be black with football Johnny Meyer, a local mail carrying star is particularly adept in this manner of play.

PETROLLE INJURED IN FIGHT WITH KING TUT

Duluth, Minn., —(AP)— Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express" and contender for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown, injured his hands so severely in his losing bout with King Tut of Minneapolis Tuesday night that he has been forced out of the ring for six weeks.

Bouts with Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo at Chicago Oct. 23, and Tommy Grogan of Omaha at Detroit, Nov. 10, have been cancelled.

Journeys to Iowa city to meet the state University of Iowa tribe of Hayweke led by the big chief, Hayweke, McClain, fullback, Coach Doehling's men defeated the University of Chicago "B" team, 12 to 0, in the season's opener, Sept. 20.

Iowa, looming a potential Big Ten champion after its 13 to 0 victory over the University of Chicago last week, will use the game as a preparatory scrimmage to meeting the crushing University of Minnesota team next Saturday.

Beloit college with two victories and one defeat will go to Galesburg, Ill., for a game with Knox college. The Illinois eleven defeated the invaders 19 to 6 last year, but the new regime with Campbell Dickson, former University of Chicago star, as coach may enable Beloit to turn the tables.

Ripon college will engage its second Big Ten foe tomorrow, when it downed Tulane, a team whose followers confidently expected victory over Georgia Tech, by a 12-0 score in New Orleans.

Coach Wallace Wade at Alabama, in a pre-season review of the prospective strength of the southern eleven, predicted a brilliant season for Georgia Tech.

"They should have a fast, heavy and experienced team this year," he said. "They have a great backfield of veteran stars in Thomasson, Mizell, Durant and Randolph and it would not surprise me to see them rank as one of the outstanding teams in the country when the season is completed."

His prediction has held to date. Regardless of the defeat by Wisconsin, one of the best teams in the middle west this year, Notre Dame is likely to trim the southerners again this year. Georgia Tech, however, has a better chance of defeating Notre Dame than she ever has had before and a pretty good idea would be to toss a coin to decide the team you wished to bet your dough on.

It won't be an easy victory for either team—and the odds, because of the veteran and nice material on hand, may be with Georgia Tech. But who can be sure of anything this year, after what has happened already?

PLAY PURDUE GAME AT "B" SQUAD FRAGAS

Badger Reserves Will Try to Beat Strong Oshkosh Normal "11"

Madison—The spectators at the Wisconsin Reserves-Oshkosh Normal football game Saturday will be given play by play reports of the Badger varsity's game with Purdue at Lafayette. Athletic department officials announced Friday that the gridgraph will be installed at the stadium where a vivid account of the Wisconsin-Purdue battle will be presented.

A direct wire will be run to the field here from the press box at Ross-Ade stadium, Lafayette and the news of the Badgers' efforts against Coach Phelan's team will be telegraphed to the stands immediately by means of the gridgraph machine. This plan will add more color to the B game.

Coach Irv Uteritz has made several shifts in his line-up this week in an attempt to improve his offense which was a bit ragged in the first half of the opening game with the North Dakota Aggies. The reserves will meet a stronger team in the Oshkosh teachers, and Uteritz is anxious to keep his slate clean.

The admission price for this game will be fifty cents. There will be no advance sale. The game will get under way at two o'clock.

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin football ship with a crew of 33 weighed anchor late Thursday afternoon and set sail for LaFayette, Ind., for its first Big Ten engagement with Purdue Saturday afternoon.

The Badgers put to port last night in Chicago and this morning were to finish the trek to LaFayette, arriving there before noon, and working out in Ross Ade stadium, this afternoon and then rest until game time Saturday afternoon.

Every man of the three teams was in fit condition and Wisconsin will put her full strength against the pirate band of "Pest" Welch, the Texas cowpuncher. ## Book Of Knowledge

Our Presidents

Roosevelt's activity as Secretary of the Navy did much to prepare our sea forces for the war with Spain which he believed was coming. As it drew nearer he resigned from the Navy Department and became lieutenant colonel of the First Volunteer Cavalry, soon nicknamed "the Rough Riders." With him were men who could ride and shoot, cowboys, ranchers and hunters.

One of Roosevelt's close friends and a colonel with him was the late General Leonard Wood, who was to become Cuba's idol and savior.

Roosevelt's Rough Riders saw some sharp fighting in Cuba. The reputation "Teddy" won during the war led to his nomination for governor of New York in 1898.

Roosevelt was elected and soon quarreled with the party leaders in his state who determined to nominate him for vice president in 1900. He was too popular to drop, they reasoned, but in the vice presidency he would be "out of the way." Rather against his will Governor Roosevelt became vice president, and on the death of President McKinley in 1901 became president.

A new well with a flow of 7,100,000 cubic feet a day recently came in and another is being drilled. The bureau of mines will supervise construction of the government plant, which will consist of steel and timber frame buildings. Walls will be of hollow tile or corrugated fireproof sheeting. Equipment will include gas engines, compressors and apparatus for low-pressure liquefaction of gas, some of which will be spare units moved from the government helium plant at Fort Worth.

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—John Darrow, E. Cook-st, for many years a resident of Waupaca-co, is first cousin to the nationally known criminal lawyer, Clarence Darrow, who spoke Friday evening at Lawrence Memorial chapel in the interests of the Democratic candidate for president, Gov. Alfred E. Smith. Mr. Darrow was unable to be present at the address, although he has a deep interest in his cousin, and has often attended his speeches whenever it has been possible.

In speaking of the relationship Mr. Darrow recalled his early boyhood in Ohio, where he lived at Ivenia, only a short distance from Kinsman, the home of Clarence Darrow.

"Clarence's father was my uncle Ammerst, a cabinet maker, while my own father was Lorenzo Darrow. My father enlisted early during the Civil war and remained in service until its close. He returned broken in health and was never able to work afterward. With six children in the family the boys of my family learned early to work. Clarence's father remained at home, and it was while I was a small boy perhaps twelve years that I spent a year or more in my cousin's family. He still recalls many episodes in our play that I have forgotten, but I do not remember that he showed any signs of being other than an ordinary, healthy boy. His education was carefully thought out by his parents, who supplemented his schooling with home study. They were well to do, and Clarence was given good opportunity to develop."

John Darrow is his cousin's senior by about three years.

INCOME TAX LAW HURT POOR MAN, KOHLER CLAIMS

Says New Measure Placed Burden on People of Smaller Incomes

LaCrosse.—(P)—The present state income tax law did not raise the rate on individual incomes, but resulted in a substantial increase in taxes for wage and salary earners by abolishing the exemptions on income, said Walter J. Kohler in a gubernatorial campaign speech here Thursday night.

The burden upon people of small incomes, particularly those with large families, has been added to in a way that is inequitable and must not be allowed to continue, he said.

"There is on the part of some an impression, which was stimulated for partisan reasons in the primary campaign," said Kohler "that the present law decreases the taxes of corporations; this is not true, except as regards small struggling companies whose incomes are less than $6000 per year. But since it did not increase the taxes of individuals, the balance is disturbed, to the disadvantage of the small individual tax payer.

"This is wrong and must be corrected.

"I favor the income tax and the principle of ability to pay which is reflected in progressively increasing rates.

As one who pays substantial taxes State and Federal taxes, I recognize it is the state's duty to safeguard the interests of the man with a moderate income."

"From personal experience years ago, I know the major part of a small income is required for food, clothing, housing, education of children—necessities. Believing in a higher American standard of living for all our people, I advocate revision of the present income tax law to establish a more equitable condition for the man of limited income.

"The present law provides a complicated three year average of assessment. This, I believe, should be replaced by a one year plan, as I advocated in the primary campaign. In case of a loss or in case of profits from the sale of capital assets such as real property, there may be a fairness in permitting the distribution of this over the succeeding two years, as in the federal income tax law, but this is no reason why all the tax payers of the state should be subjected to the complications of the three year average system.

He said that while the tax burden involves local taxes, nevertheless it is a state problem. Local taxes are levied under the laws of the state. Local finances and state finances are as ultimately related as the two sides of the scale. The subject of property taxes is therefore inseparable from the whole tax problem. He then reiterated his proposal to institute "a comprehensive study of the tax situation in Wisconsin, and of the measures needed to correct whatever may at present be uneconomic or unjust."

SMITH SIGNATURE WRITTEN IN GIRL'S AUTOGRAPH BOOK

One proud little Appleton girl these days is Miss Ellen Balliet, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Balliet, 2 Brookway.

And as sufficient reason for her pride, she displays her autograph book which contains the signature of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic candidate for president, as well as the names of many men and women prominent in the country.

Among the signatures are those of Governor Smith, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Emily Smith Warner, James O'Donnell, Bennett, Chicago Tribune political writer, Irvin Thomas, political writer of the New York World. John A. Burton, Paramount News; and John P. Gray, writer of the New York Sun.

Miss Balliet, during Governor Smith's address in Milwaukee, sat among the pressmen with whom she made a great hit. Afterwards she met most of the nationally known writers.

A Substitute for Dieting

ARTICULAR people do frown on those who "pick and choose" at the table. A "diet" is often embarrassing and always a hardship. And nine times out of ten it is unnecessary.

Try this simple experiment; see if that "indigestion" doesn't disappear from the very hour you first take Pape's Diapiesin. To restore good digestion just eliminate excess acid. A tablet of "Pape's Diapiesin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

So, do buy a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapiesin" today. This not only means instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach a little "Pape's Diapiesin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent various disorders. You may have decided that nothing could give you a "strong" stomach; just make the diapiesin test!
